High School May Queen J. Goodsell Crowned During Spring Rites

Three Hundred Students Had Part in Annual Spring Festival Which Saw Queen Chosen and Many School Awards Made.

The hillsides in the rear of Kingston High School were crowded with hundreds of people this morning as the annual May Exercises were held, featuring the May Queen, Miss J. Goodsell, and more than 300 students of the school who took part in one of the most picturesque programs ever presented.

As the queen sat on her throne in a setting furnished by nature—the budding trees, shrubs and rocks making up the woodland section adjoining the athletic field—200 girl students went through a drill on the table-like ground in front of her and others numbering about 40 did the may pole dance.

The girls in the drill were dressed like cadets and presented a striking sight as they went through the maneuvers characteristic of dress parades seen at West Point. Music for the marches was furnished by the high school orchestra.

Prior to the show, awards were made to the school's athletes, chess players, and winners in the literary contest for the Maroon, the school year-book.

Beginning the program was the speech welcoming all by Miss Goodsell after which she was crowned queen of the May by Prime Minister Habshe Maroon. Following this ceremony the queen performed her pleasing task of giving awards to the students who came before her to receive them. They kissed her hand as she distributed the awards.

Queen Speaks
The May Queen spoke as follows: Mr. President, my worthy subjects, ladies and gentlemen:

Perhaps it is because I have the honor of being Queen of this May Day festival that Nature has selected me as her special messenger. She bids me urge all of you to join heartily in making this a joyous and memorable occasion. Put aside dull care, display your brightest smiles! Follow the example of Mother Nature, herself. Dress in the gayest of new apparel, flaunting her brightly warm smile, she speaks so eloquently that messengers seem superfluous. Yet she and her children: The leaves, the flowers and the birds, join in our cordial welcome to you on this happy occasion and greet you saying, "Hail to the followers of spring—Hail to those who keep May Day."

My classmates, may I express my appreciation for the honor which you have bestowed upon me this day? It is my sincere desire to prove worthy of this honor and fulfill in a satisfactory manner the duties of this high office.

Prime Minister's Address
The Prime Minister's speech followed with the following remarks: "Friends: Again 'Spring comes with wand in hand. And changes to a princess grand. The beggar world, all wet and cold. We have gathered here today to celebrate this inspiring change, just as the Romans did years ago when they gathered to pay homage and honor to Flora, goddess of flowers and spring."

As with all celebrations, many legends have developed. For example, there is the story of the old man who sat, day by day, by the side of a frozen stream, old and alone. One day a handsome youth approached. "Ah, my son," said the old man, "I am happy to see you. Tell me of your wonderful deeds, and I shall tell you what I can perform; and in this way we can amuse each other." They began: "I am Peboan, the spirit of Winter," said the old man. "I blow my breath and the streams stand still. The waters become stiff and hard as clear stone."

"I am Seegwin, the spirit of Spring," answered the youth. "I breathe, and the flowers spring up in the meadow and woods."

"I shake my locks," said the old man, "and snow covers the land. The birds fly to a distant shore, and the animals hide from the cold."

"I shake my ringlets," said the young man, "and warm showers of soft rain fall upon the earth. The flowers lift their heads from the ground and my voice recalls the birds—and all nature rejoices."

And while they were talking, a wonderful change took place. The sun began to rise. Peboan, the spirit of Winter, became silent. The robins and bluebirds began to sing. Peboan sank down and dissolved into a tiny spring of water that vanished under the brown leaves of the forest.

Thus the spirit of Winter departed and where he had melted away, there the Indian children gathered the first blossoms, fragrant and delicately pink, the modest spring beauty.

"I mention this story because the good people of Kingston still hold such a legend. Each year the call is issued and hundreds gather at this beautiful spot. There as they look upon smiling faces of their boys and girls—more radiant and more beautiful than the prettiest of Spring flowers—they know that winter has fled away, and Spring, the happiest of all seasons, is here."

There is also an old legend that if one's face is wet with dew on May day morning, one's complexion will be improved. You can see that all the dew in the world has been gathered.

New Judicial Council To Study Efficiency Of Courts In State

Chief Judge Pond Says Council's First Job Will Be Collection of Statistics From All Courts in the State—Leonard S. Saxe May Become "Keyman" in State's Drive Against Congested Court Systems.

Albany, N. Y., May 25 (AP)—Chief Judge Pond announced today the state's new judicial council will meet July 2 to begin a thorough study of the efficiency of courts in the Empire state.

At the same time it was learned Leonard S. Saxe of New York, executive secretary of the legislative commission on administration of justice, may become "keyman" in the state's drive against congested court systems. Saxe has been considered with several others for appointment as executive secretary of the council.

Chief Judge Pond said the council's first job will be collection of statistics from all courts in the state.

Governor Herbert H. Lehman, who appointed six of the 13 members of the council, said delays ranged from 20 months to four years in

New York city courts, and 16 to 24 months in some upstate courts. The governor called the state's court system "complex, technical, cumbersome and costly."

July 2 is the day after the council's $50,000 appropriation becomes available. The law makes Chief Judge Pond the chairman.

"The law wants us to show how administration of justice can be improved," the chief judge said. "It will be pioneer work, and I don't know exactly what we will do. We probably will work all summer and have a plan ready for the next legislature."

Besides Chief Judge Pond, the council consists of presiding justices of the four appellate divisions, chairman of the legislative judiciary committee, four representatives of the bar of each judicial department selected by the governor, and two delegates-at-large selected by the governor.

Two Chicago Police Slain, Bank Bandits Meet Red Hot Bullets

Bloody Game of "Get Dillinger" Ends in Death For Leading Detective Team—Bank Employees Shoot It Out With Robbers, Killing One.

East Chicago, Ind., May 25 (AP)—Two more police officers are dead in the bloody game of "get Dillinger." In this city where Policeman William P. O'Malley was slain January 4 by a man definitely identified as John Dillinger, two officers, Martin O'Brien, 44, and Lloyd Mulvihill, 28, were machine-gunned to death late last night.

There was no clue today to the identity of the killers. Dillinger, fugitive from the Crown Point jail where he was held for trial for the murder of O'Malley, was suspected but it was only a suspicion.

Policemen Mulvihill and O'Brien, veteran officers who knew Dillinger by sight, had been assigned to guard a road along which it was believed Dillinger might travel last night. The road patrol was established following word from Indianapolis that a man believed to be Dillinger had been seen there yesterday.

An automobile believed to have carried four or five men approached at high speed. The two officers, traveling in a police squad car, apparently decided to halt the car and investigate.

Just what happened is not clear. The officers' bodies were found slumped in the front seat of their car, with a dozen machine gun slugs in the neck and head of each. The attack must have caught them completely by surprise as the pistol of each officer was still in its holster.

A watchman for a packing company, passing that way about half an hour after the shooting, discovered the squad car with its cargo of two dead peace officers. Thirteen deaths already mark the trail of Dillinger for the eleven month period in which he has become the nation's most hunted gunman, yet only one of the 13 has been definitely traceable, even in speculation, to Dillinger himself.

Both O'Brien and Mulvihill were married. O'Brien was the father of four children. Mulvihill the father of five. They were known as excellent detectives.

Bandit Is Killed.

Chicago, May 25 (AP)—One bandit was killed and another wounded perhaps mortally today in an attempted robbery of the South Holland, Ill., Trust and Savings Bank.

Bank employees fought it out with the invaders in the bank and killed one outright.

The proximity of South Holland, a hamlet south of Chicago near the Indiana line, to the scene of the killing of two East Chicago policemen last night gave rise to a report the bandits might have been the assailants of the Indiana officers.

Detectives Trap Man In Blackmail Charge
New York, May 25 (AP)—Trapped by detectives in the Times Square subway station, Nicholas Garofalo, 22, a shipping clerk, was held today on charges of blackmail and attempted kidnaping.

He was seized as he attempted to collect $500 left in a station parcel box by Benjamin Feldman, a coat manufacturer, following threats to kidnap Feldman's wife and child.

Anonymous letters received by the manufacturer instructed him to leave the key to the parcel box on a chewing gum slot machine. He followed instructions.

Detectives who arrested Garofalo after he found the key and started to unlock the box, said he made a complete confession. They said he admitted writing the letters because he needed money to pay debts. Feldman identified Garofalo as one of his former employees.

Ickes Halts Gotham Housing Project Due To High Land Values

Three Million Dollar Operations Held in Abeyance on Secretary's Order Because Land Is Estimated Eight Times Over 1929 Figure.

Washington, May 25 (AP)—The Washington Post says Secretary Ickes has halted a $3,210,000 housing project in New York city because he learned that the building companies hiked the value of the land to eight times what the company's president in 1929 swore it was worth.

The contract for the project, being built by the Dick-Meyer Corporation, has been signed, and construction is under way.

The Post says, however, that when Ickes found that the land value had been increased, he said: "I told them that contract or no contract, they were not going to get another nickel until we got together on the value of their land."

The project calls for erection of ten six-floor apartment buildings at Woodside, in Queens. The Dick-Meyer Corporation, a limited dividend company, pledged various collateral as well as the land in obtaining the loan.

Ickes said he learned that George C. Meyer, president, in 1929 swore that the land, with the exception of one small parcel assessed at $2,500, was worth $109,000. In obtaining the loan, the value was placed at $863,000.

Ickes told the company a committee of three should be appointed to arrive at a fair value.

"Rubber Bill" of Song And Story Comes True

Ballyhoo Man Almost Scars Bank Teller With Statement "I Robbed a Bank"—Proves Money May Be Stretched.

An employee of the Kingston Trust Company was rather startled this morning when a gentleman walked into the bank with a hand full of money, bills sticking out of every pocket and some even attached to his coat with pins. He walked up to one of the windows and quietly announced that he had robbed a bank and wanted to leave the money with the Trust Company.

Probably visions of the much advertised John Dillinger flashed through the mind of the bank clerk. There was an evident enlargement of the clerk's eyes as the man tendered a hand full of bills to the startled clerk. Rather uncertain and somewhat nervous the clerk reached for the bills, took hold of one end and the man outside the window seemed unwilling to part with the "loot." However the clerk began to stretch. They were rubber. The bank robber was a ballyhoo man selling the new dollar bills which were guaranteed to go a long way. They appeared to be genuine greenbacks and many people purchased them and later enjoyed the trick of having a joke on a friend.

VIRGINIA AUTHORITIES SEEK COUPLE'S ATTACKER

Fredericksburg, Va., May 25 (AP)—Search for an unidentified attacker of a couple near here Sunday night was redoubled today following the death of Fannie Kurz, who with her companion, Milton J. Brown, was found unconscious in Battle-Fields Memorial Park.

Miss Kurz died in a hospital without regaining consciousness. Brown is in a critical condition with head injuries and has not been able to tell authorities how he and his associate were hurt.

The two were found Monday lying in a shallow depression in the park, hours after the assault was believed to have occurred.

Breach Between Macy One Awarded $500 and And Mills Is Widening Another $1,000 In Case Over State Fall Drive In Court On Thursday

Statement Attributed to Former Secretary of Treasury That He Intended to "Chop Off the Head" of The State Chairman.

New York, May 25 (AP)—The breach between W. Kingsland Macy, Republican state chairman, and Ogden Mills was perceptibly widening today over a plan for the New York state fall campaign, with a statement attributed to the former secretary of the treasury that he intended to "chop off the head" of the state chairman.

The bitter factional differences, described as a fight between reactionaries and progressives within the party, has grown up from Macy's repudiation of Mills' effort to carry the fall election on national lines rather than state issues. Mills has sounded an attack on the Roosevelt New Deal.

Old Guard members, on whom Macy has warred as reactionary, were reported to be willing to carry ahead the fight against Macy started last winter in the state chairman's brush with H. Edmund Machold, former state chairman, and Assembly Clerk Fred Hammond.

Last night George H. Payne, a close ally of Macy, declared in a Bronx speech that within the previous 24 hours Mills had said he intended to end Macy's reign.

"Behind the scenes," he said "there is going on within the Republican party in this state an intense conflict between those who profess the conservative or reactionary doctrine and those who represent the progressive or liberal thought."

"Mr. Ogden Mills has assumed the leadership, if not the command, of the conservative wing of the Republican party, and has gone as far within the last 24 hours as to declare that he is going to 'chop off the head' of Mr. Macy, the state chairman and leader of the progressive forces."

"No one who knows the political situation in the state can have any doubt that if Mr. Mills should succeed in driving Mr. Macy out of the state leadership, or in becoming himself the dominant factor, that Mr. Machold would again be a conspicuous and leading figure in the party's campaign."

"It is the same contest that in 1912 wrecked the Republican party, and curiously enough, two of the reactionaries leaders, Ogden Mills and Representative James W. Wadsworth, were fought Theodore Roosevelt then, and fighting Kingsland Macy today just as bitterly."

"I'LL TAKE ONE," FORD SAID, DIDN'T HAVE QUARTER

Gettysburg, Pa., May 25 (AP)—The chuckles in this historic community today are at Henry Ford's expense. Stepping from a Pittsburgh-to-Philadelphia train to stretch his legs yesterday, the motor magnate was approached by T. J. Hardy, hotel salesman, who inquired: "Like to buy a history of the Battle of Gettysburg? Only a quarter."

"Well, I know a great deal about that battle," said the gray-haired traveler, "but I'll take one."

"We'll have to wait for my secretary," Ford explained with a smile. "I haven't any money."

Ever that was more than Philadelphia's saw of him. Spending two hours in the Quaker City, Ford had boarded a train for Buffalo before his arrival was made public.

This sale is attracting much attention both because of the useful articles for sale and because it is being held to secure much needed funds for the Women's Exchange.

Mysterious Quiet
Hangs Over Nearly All
Macedonian Sections

Tense Feeling Exists Over Sandwiching of Revolutionary Stronghold Between Two Provinces—Leader of Imro Is Fighting WERNER

Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press
Sofia, Bulgaria, May 25—A mysterious quiet hangs today over most districts of Bulgarian Macedonia—regions which have been the subject of startling rumors since the weekend coup d'etat.

One of the first acts of the new military dictatorship of Premier Kimon Gueorgueff was to partition this stronghold of the dread inner Macedonian revolutionary organization, the Imro, between two provinces, Sofia and Plovdiv. Just as though the Imro and "King" Ivan Mihailoff did not exist.

Mihailoff, a fighting man, is the leader of the independence movement in Macedonia, which has been divided among Bulgaria, Greece and Yugoslavia.

Rumors of armed conflict between Mihailoff's men and Bulgarian government troops filled the air after the partition of Bulgaria's Macedonian territory.

But, in a motor tour through the heart of "King" Ivan's country, this correspondent failed to find any evidence of actual fighting. On the contrary, there was an outward appearance of perfect peace.

According to some oldtimers the people of Macedonia are waiting to see what the new government actually does before committing themselves. They fear a new reign of Imro terrorism—with a repetition of past alleged assassinations and outrages—in case Premier Gueorgueff attempts to break the Imro's rule in the mountains of Macedonia.

This feared terrorist campaign, the natives say, is not expected to take the form of open conflict with the military, but various forms of sudden death for civil officials who carry out the orders of the Sofia administration.

Questioned for Beekman Slaying

Millford, Pa., May 25 (AP)—State police are questioning a Philadelphia in their search for clues in the slaying of Max Beekman, fruit dealer of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was shot on a mountain road near Shohola.

Investigators said the Philadelphia man, Max Siegel, was taken into custody after appearing at the place of the shooting. No charge was placed against him.

Beekman, who was 33, died in a hospital at Port Jervis, N. Y., Wednesday, several hours after he was shot eight times. Sheriff R. C. Palmer of Pike county said Beekman told him he was wounded by two men as he stepped from his car to tell them how to motor to Philadelphia.

State police found $750 in the victim's pockets. They reported the car he was driving had been registered in the name of Nathan Abelo of Stroudsburg.

All TERA projects shut down this afternoon for one week in Kingston and work will cease until June 1. The shut down is caused by exhaustion of the city's allotment of funds for the month of May. The shut down affects approximately 770 men who have been employed on sewer and street projects.

At the office of the local Works Division on Pine Grove avenue this morning it was stated that the local committee have used every effort to place the most needy cases at work on projects, and so great a number have been taken care of that the funds are exhausted. This month there were five pay days instead of the usual four.

The layoff until June 1 is only temporary, and all workers will be notified by mail when and where to report for duty the first of June.

The action taken by Kingston is similar to that taken in other cities throughout the state where it has been necessary to shut down all projects for one week when the funds allocated had become exhausted.

Two Youths Had Car Reported As Stolen

Arrested Here by Officer Fatum at Rondout Creek Bridge When He Noticed Number on Car Corresponded to Report of Stolen Car Received Over Teletype.

Officer Frank Fatum was on duty at the Rondout Creek Bridge on Thursday afternoon, and had the usual list of license numbers of stolen cars in the booth with him. As he glanced out of the booth he saw a car approaching with license plate numbers of that of a car reported stolen earlier in the day. The two youths driving the car did not stop but drove on and Officer Fatum halted another car and started in pursuit. The youths had only gotten a short distance when their car suddenly stalled.

They gave their names as George Gonyea, 17, and Fred Brunella, 17, both of Hudson Falls. They said they had taken the car and ridden as far as Bear Mountain and were on the way back home. The car they were driving had a burned out bearing and it was necessary to call a truck to haul it to the police barn.

The authorities at Hudson Falls were notified and Thursday night two youths were turned over to Sergeant Smith of the State Police. The car will have to be repaired before the owner can drive it back to Hudson Falls.

This is the fourth stolen car recovered by the local police within the past two weeks.

Bonnie Parker Won't Lie Beside Barrow

Dallas, Tex., May 25 (AP)—Contrary to her own prediction, Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow, her companion in crime for the past two years, won't be buried side by side.

Their sorrowing mothers made other plans yesterday as the bullet-riddled bodies of the outlaw couple were brought here from Arcadia, La., where they were trapped and killed by officers. In a poem written several months ago Bonnie had predicted she would be buried by the side of the southwest No. 1.

Private services were arranged for Clyde, free from the curious mob that pushed and jostled past his bier in an undertaking parlor last night. The ceremony prepared was brief—two songs, "Does Jesus Care?" and "He's The One," a brief prayer and a message. Burial will be in the West Dallas cemetery.

Bonnie's relatives were reluctant to announce funeral plans, but they indicated she would be buried in another cemetery a mile away.

40 Per Cent Cut Ahead 'Cannon Fodder' Topic Is Tobacco Report Brought to Kiwanians

Tobacco Companies Promise to Pass Saving of Federal Tax Cut on to Consumer So That Cigarettes Will Cost Less.

Washington, May 25 (AP)—A department in recovery economics—designed for once to lower consumer prices—was proposed to the House today when its ways and means committee reported a bill to reduce tobacco taxes 40 per cent.

The tobacco companies have agreed to pass all of the reduction on to the consumer, so that a 15-cent pack of cigarettes will sell instead for 10.

To the accompaniment of a great advertising campaign, an effort will be made, if the bill passes, to increase consumption to a point where the federal treasury may not, after all, lose very much by the tax reduction.

Should the plan work, lower liquor taxes may follow, and the whole trend of administration efforts to rectify prices for recovery may be affected. Already urgent proposals have been brought forward in Congress to cut down the liquor levies in the hope that bootlegging may be driven out, and the legal liquor trade be put on a basis where lower prices will mean increased treasury returns.

One of the basic economic policies of the administration has been to restore prices to a normal level. In various ways emphasis has been placed on a restoration to the level of 1926. No feature of the government's trade reports has been scanned more diligently by high officials than the price index.

Rio de Janeiro, May 25 (AP)—A measure restriction immigration, which Brazilian newspapers said was directed at Japan, was approved by the Constitutional Assembly last night by a vote of 171 to 26. Thousands of Japanese have settled in Brazil in recent years.

Last American Is Out.
Paris, May 25 (AP)—Wilmer Hines, former University of North Carolina player, last American survivor in the men's singles division of the French hard court tennis championships, was eliminated in the third round today by Max Ellmer of Switzerland, 8-10, 6-4, 6-0, 5-7, 6-2.

Miss Van Kleeck Says Pond, Sabelli Land NRA Is a Bitter Dose At London Airdrome

Kansas City, May 25 (AP)—Miss Mary Van Kleeck of New York, who resigned from President Roosevelt's NRA committee, asserted today "The effect of the NRA upon the workers' struggle has been to stimulate hopes followed by bitter disappointment."

"Through this process of disillusionment for workers," she told the national conference of social work here, "The NRA is unintentionally swinging the labor movement from its ancient moorings, from collective bargaining, to a broad working class movement with the single objective of protecting the common human rights and interests of all workers in conflict with the claims of property."

MORATORIUM ON RATS

"Students" of Unique French School All Perish in Fire.

Paris, May 25 (AP)—Fire destroyed a unique school today and all of its "students"—50 dogs. The dogs were quartered in a rat killing training school adjoining a garage, in which the proprietor was burned to death. His carelessness is believed to have started the fire.

Hendon Airdrome, London, May 25 (AP)—Captain George Pond and Lieut. Cesare Sabelli landed here at 12:30 p. m. today after a short flight from Cardiff, Wales.

After the fliers had climbed out from behind their smoking motor, Sabelli said the hop today was "almost as tough as the last part of our transatlantic journey."

Captain Pond indicated he was uncertain when they would be able to get away to wind up their flight to Rome and he taxed the plane to a nearby hangar preparatory to starting work on the engine.

KENTUCKY HILL-BILLING RATE RANSOM ON VALUE

Louis, Ky., May 25 (AP)—The ransom racket has invaded the Kentucky mountains.

A registered stallion owned by Dr. R. C. Moore, veterinarian and former Lawrence county judge, was taken from his stall in the dead of night.

The horsemen packed a ransom note on the barn door. It demanded $500, but a postscript added, "This horse ain't worth what we farm there; bring $250."

Dr. Moore turned the note over to authorities, and announced he would not meet the ransom demand.

The number of horses on farms continued to decline in the last year although at a less rapid rate than in recent years, the department of agriculture reports.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

Chapter 27
THE SEARCH

Then what kind of a game—
 plain yourself, Andrews?

"It was you, Mr. Harper, who told me that information about the revolver. I did not feel that it was my business to contradict his statements. I saw now that it was just a little trick on your part and I wish I had not said previously."

Harper was boiling, not only over the exposure of his ruse, so neatly and effectively checked, but over the collapse of his promising secret. Pierre Dufresne clapped his hand on his forehead. "A good and faithful servant," he intoned, laughing merrily at the detective's discomfiture.

Harper glared angrily at the impassive Andrews. "This is a serious matter, I warn you. For the time being the police are in charge of this house. Your duty as a citizen to uphold the law is greater than your duty to an employer."

"But you lied to me, sir," protested the gaunt old man, with a devastating simplicity that sent his master into a fresh peal of laughter. Harper turned to Dufresne. "All right, sir, but that is not the whole story. Detective Lafferty saw this gun himself. We know it was there."

"I repeat then, that I do not own such a weapon and I have never seen it nor handled it."

Harper bowed. "We will accept that statement, Mr. Dufresne. But we know the gun exists, that it is in this house, and with your permission we will search until we find it."

"You may search as thoroughly as you please, Sergeant."

"Lafferty bring all the others here. I want everybody to stay in one room while the search is going on."

Dufresne carefully selected a cigarette. "And what do you expect to prove?" he drawled.

"These cold-blooded murders were committed by some one in this house," Sergeant Harper snapped. "I intend to get at the truth, no matter whom it involves!"

The household assembled in the small drawing-room, a pleasant and many-windowed room on the main floor, adjoining the breakfast-room.

THIS enforced gathering was quiet enough on the surface but underneath it was seething and boiling with curiosity and excitement. The Sergeant's brief and uncompromising assertion that the case had changed from an unexplained double homicide to an equally unexplained double murder had set the household by the ears.

One by one they denied any knowledge even of the existence of the revolver Harper sought. In the first flush of surprise they did not gather the implication that the murderer was not only alive but one of their number. That realization dawned on them a little later and placed an awkward restraint on the conversation.

Harper, Lafferty, and the two policemen conducted the search, having commanded the company of Mrs. Whitmore, not only because she had the keys to all the locked places in the house, but also to witness that all household and individual property rights were respected. Silent and sullen, her dark brows frowning, Mrs. Whitmore accompanied the officers.

Four men, trained and experienced in such matters, can make short work of any room when the sole object in question is as heavy and bulky as a revolver, but there were many rooms and closets in the house and Harper's methods were painstaking and thorough. He had set out with full confidence in the success of the search.

As their absence lengthened, the waiting group began to split up along lines of natural gravitation. Captain Macklin and Pierre Dufresne sat on a window-seat. Director Connors had been obliged to leave, owing to the press of other affairs, and he had left without giving any definite answer to Dufresne's request.

The faithful Andrews and the stolid, good-natured John Whitmore stood in a corner and talked together in low tones. There was a sardonic glint in the old butler's eyes and a determined set of the jaw, for he was still feeling elated over the

Talks to parents

First Principles
By BROCKE PETERS CHURCH

The Townsends were city born and bred, father, mother, and all four children.

To be sure the four summer months they spent in the country, but all the changes that they got was change of air and scenery, for their country house was quite as well equipped with modern conveniences as their city house.

One pressed a button and the lights went on; the cooking was done by electricity; the water was pumped and heated by electricity, and no one got any nearer to nature than a swim in the ocean or a walk through woodland paths.

It was the period of depression which stirred them out of their Land of Cockaigne where the business of living was so effortless that one was hardly conscious of life. They left the city and went to live permanently in a country town.

At first the change was not noticeably different from their annual begins to their summer home. They could still press buttons for their light and heat and water, and a few minutes' drive in the car would bring them to moving pictures and shops. That winter saw a blizzard and all of a sudden the world changed. Heat and light were wiped out in a minute, food ran short, and locomotion was impossible except on skis.

Fortunately there was a sporting spirit in the family. They faced the situation uncomplainingly and even found some pleasure and considerable thrill in contriving to get along, and not too uncomfortably, with what was left.

Humanity is being impoverished in the actual joy of living. A return to primitive realities, whether voluntary or forced, is good for us all, and especially for the children.

How To Dice Celery.
 To dice celery, freshen the stalks in cold water and wash thoroughly. Then cut the stalks in small sections, lengthwise. Lay several stalks together on a board and cut crosswise. Tiny leaves may be used for garnishing, while larger leaves may be dried for soups.

Co-ed studying home economics in several North Carolina colleges are taught to design and weave men's and women's stockings.

The Roundout House catered to several city guests this week. Jacob Weimar received a shipment of baby chicks on Wednesday. Miss Theresa Brophy is the school tax collector for this year.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, May 25.—Mrs. L. P. Galloway and Mrs. Lawrence Abrams of Highland visited at Marlborough on Wednesday evening.

The annual flower show will be held at the Newburgh Y. W. C. A. June 6.

TIME NEARS FOR USE OF 1934-35 LICENSES
 Albany, May 25.—Less than half the number of motor vehicle operators in the state have renewed their licenses for 1934-35. This indicates that unless prompt action is taken many will be without proper credentials when the new license year begins June 1. Those who cling to the habit of waiting until the last minute before presenting their applications should not overlook the importance of the last-hour rush in offices of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

The offices will be closed next Wednesday, Memorial Day, leaving only five working days before the new license year.

To relieve the public of inconvenience officials have made it easy to renew licenses without the necessity of a personal visit to the Bureau. An application properly filled out, with the 1933-34 stub and the correct fee in money order or check may be mailed to the nearest office of the Bureau and a new license will be forwarded immediately.

Driving without a proper license may cause an operator's arrest.

makes explosives as well as more pacific products, has been selling ammonium nitrate machinery to Japan. This is said to have been intended for use in nitrate plants for agricultural purposes. But as everyone knows, nitrate machinery that makes fertilizer can also make explosives. Our Muscle Shoals plant was intended for both peace and war.

The government's objections were withdrawn when it was stated that if the Japanese did not get such machines and patents in America, they could get them in Germany. Very likely they could. But there are many stories of this general nature passing around, regarding the industrial armaments of nations for private profit by the so-called international munitions industry.

SAFE BANKS

Not one bank has failed in the United States this year. The comptroller of the currency cites this fact as a striking evidence of recovery. It is largely that, no doubt. It is also an evidence of the reform of bad bank practices, and of the value of bank deposit insurance. The fact that not a dollar has been lost since this insurance went into effect will reassure those who feared that insurance would result in carelessness and heavy losses. It may be possible to reduce the insurance rates.

The "enormous increase in the amount of bank deposits" remarked by the comptroller probably comes as much from the greater security felt by depositors as from "actual recovery." All these things, however, hang together. And when the new sense of security extends to the bankers themselves, so that they feel as safe in lending for legitimate purposes as they formerly did, the recovery will be complete.

That Body of Yours

BY James W. Barton, M. D.

PREVENTING BACKACHE

I have been greatly interested in backache for a number of years and from the statistics which I have gathered from various sources which seemed to agree with my own experience, I was under the impression that three cases of backache out of every four were due to infection and the other was due to injury.

However, Dr. J. E. Goldthwait of Boston in his address to the American Orthopedic Association at Washington last year pointed out that the greatest percentage of backaches are due to the wrong use of the back, or faulty standing and sitting; the way the body is carried doesn't give the bones and joint in the back a chance to do their work properly. This causes a strain on the joints, and weakness in the part naturally follows.

Where the curves occur in the back is naturally the place where the strain will come and pain follows. This pain is found at back of the neck on the curve forward, at upper back on the curve backward, at the small of the back on the curve forward again and at the hips where there is another curve backward.

Dr. Goldthwait points out that the spine, to be at its best, must be used with the body fully erect, in which position the joints are held midway between full bending and full extension.

You can get an idea of this from the wrist. It is strongest when the hand is not extended backward or when it is not bent forward on the wrist. If the wrist is kept at the full bent position or the full "straight" position for any length of time it will mean strain and weakness.

The same is true of the spine. Although many cases of backache are due to careless or faulty carriage of the body or require the use of apparatus or supports to get relief, a great many can be cured or nearly all prevented by learning to hold the body in an erect position. This doesn't mean an "over-erect" position with the chest out as far as possible, the waist drawn away back in a "rigid" position.

You can get the idea of the proper "easily erect" position in which to hold the body by standing sideways to a mirror and just trying to stand "tall." You will see that the abdomen "fattens," the curve in the small of the back straightens out, the chest stands forward and the shoulders are held back.

Favor Investigating N. Y. Telephone Rates

Albany, N. Y., May 25 (AP).—Eighteen upstate cities today had pledged their support to the Public Service Commission's investigation into the rates of the New York Telephone Company.

Corporation counsel of the commission, meeting here under direction of the state mayors' conference, adopted a resolution asking the commission to co-ordinate the work of the municipalities in the presentation of evidence and the cross-examination of witnesses in the proceedings now in progress.

The investigation was launched by the commission following enactment of legislation this year giving it greater authority to determine if emergency rates, lower than the present structure, should be instituted.

Early Criminal Code

A criminal code formulated by the governor and judges in Ohio and authorized by congress, was promulgated September 6, 1788. Of the 20 offenses for which penalties were provided, the only offense punishable by death was murder—which is believed to be the first criminal code in the world in which the death penalty was limited to one offense.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver and bowel poisons before breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gas, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe on the outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach. Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish tang which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphate hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

HOW GOES THE BATTLE? MAN VS. MACHINE

This is the second in a series of nine articles from as many countries on the status of the machine and its effect on employment.

II. ITALY

By A. E. STUNTZ

Rome.—A determined effort by the Italian government to make Italy feed and supply its population of 45,000,000 is being a widespread increase in the use of labor-saving machinery throughout the nation.

Father of this campaign for self support as well as directing general of a drive for an increased production to keep consumption mounting, Mussolini has shown himself ready at times to demonstrate personally how his people can get the most out of mechanical aids.

No Fear of Machine

The fascist regime does not fear possible encroachment of the machine on the rights of working men. Mussolini's answer to this doubt has been that the corporate state can so discipline and distribute the use of machinery that it will not take food from manual workers.

Mussolini recently declared:

"The machine can subjugate the individual, but it will be bent to the will of the state, which will reconduct it to the service of man as an instrument of liberation, not an accumulator of miseries."

Protected by high tariff duties and stimulated by grain and other production campaigns Italian machine and tool production has shown a decided jump in the past two years.

Il Duce Shows How

Il Duce himself piloted one of the first of an army of Italian tractors

Mussolini himself shows his people how to make fascist Italy self-supporting in the state's campaign to demonstrate technological aids. Here he is driving a tractor after the desolate Pontine marshes had been drained and made to bear.

marsh tract habitable and productive. In line with this stimulation of decision to make the bitter Pontine ment arranged a concourse of inventors of electrically driven agricultural work savers.

The Italian peasant benefits greatly in Il Duce's desire to mechanize and modernize Italy.

Gasoline, a precious fluid to the farmer because of import duties and sales taxes—is sold at cost to the farmer with a tractor. This is about a third what it costs the automobile owner.

In the big agricultural consortiums engaged in government supported reclamation and reorganization work the machines necessary for conversion of the land are rented or sold to the landholder at minimum costs, and in some cases loaned.

The number of gasoline tractors now doing duty on Italian farms is 12,000. Most are of Italian make. The number contrasts greatly with the negligible tractor units found in Italy a few years ago.

Officials estimate there has been a proportionate increase in draw-bar implements such as plows, harrows, planters, reapers; and in motor-driven machinery such as threshers and grinders.

Machine "Reserve"

Other thousands of machines, agricultural, construction or otherwise, are kept in reserve by the government as a mechanical army which may be thrown into quick action on any national scheme for the opening up of lands or facilities for the people.

Modernized hoisting cranes, derricks and railroad devices are being planned. Steam shovels are being manufactured in the Trieste shipyards.

Italy reached her goal of self-sufficiency in wheat production last fall, with a total yield of 81,000,000 quintals. This required additional machinery capable of milling about 10,000,000 more quintals than was ground here in 1931-32.

The 1933 steel production figure is expected to reach 2,000,000 tons, half a million more than was produced in 1932. Much of this is destined for tools, machines and implements.

New Regulations For County Clerks

Albany, May 24.—Governor Lehman has signed a bill which requires County Clerks to keep their offices open until 5 o'clock, p. m., for the issuing of certificates of automobile registration and driving licenses. Stronger Business and Stronger Banks

F. M. LAW
President American Bankers Association

DURING the crisis when confidence was shattered, bankers were properly concerned in liquidity. Their main thought was to prepare to meet any demand for withdrawal of funds. They were more interested in collecting loans than in making them. For this they cannot be justly blamed. It was a proper procedure. Now that confidence has been so largely restored, banks will naturally resume a more normal lending policy. This does not mean they will or should extend loans or amount credit, but that in the normal good faith bankers will perform their proper part in recovery by a sympathetic and constructive attitude in the making of sound loans. Nor should commercial banks make capital or long time loans, for the reason that their loans are made from funds derived from deposits payable for the most part on demand.

When the return of confidence is further on its way, business men will need and need for credit in making their plans. Then good borrowers, who for the most part have been so conspicuously absent from the market, will return. They will be warmly welcomed by the banks.

Business Men's Fears
Business men have not yet lost all their fears. They worry about what Congress may or may not do. They concern themselves about a trend toward control of business by government. They fear taxes beyond their power to pay. These are real sources of worry and when they are reassured along these lines they will be more inclined to take a fresh look at the future and to make plans to go forward.

As a matter of fact there are tangible evidences of recovery. The Federal Reserve Board officially has stated that prices, wages, business activity and production were back to the highest peak since early in 1931. Commercial failures in the United States are being cut almost in half as compared with the same period last year. It has been reported that the decline in export and import trade was definitely checked in the middle of 1933 and replaced during the last half of the year by a substantial recovery movement.

Among favorable factors is the improved condition of the banks. It is doubtless true that the banking structure of the country has never been in a sounder, stronger and more liquid condition than it is today. My authority for that statement is the Comptroller of the Currency. No longer is there any fear or thought of bank runs. Depositors once more know that their money is safe and the banker, thrice armed in the knowledge of his own strength, is looking forward.

Training for Bankers

The American Bankers Association has been active for many years training young men and women in order that they may be fully qualified for the business of banking. Standard courses are furnished with able and experienced teachers. This work is done under the direction of the American Institute of Banking Section of the association. Over two hundred chapters, or local banking schools, are in active operation throughout the country and thousands of the younger generation of bankers are being graduated each year. These students are taught not only banking practices and policies, but they are also well grounded in the highest ideals and standards of business ethics. A proposal is now under consideration to establish a central school, which will offer advanced or graduate work to a selective list taken from those who have completed the standard courses.—F. M. Law, President American Bankers Association.

Banks Repaying Loans From R. F. C.

Although banks and trust companies have been the largest borrowers from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, they have exceeded all other classes of borrowers in the rapidity of their repayments. Since the inception of the R. F. C. in February, 1932, loans have been authorized by it to 7,080 banking institutions in the amount of $1,935,000,000. Of this sum $442,000,000 was not taken by the borrowers, the actual advances being $1,493,000,000.

Repayments against these advances through April 30, 1934, aggregated $925,000,000, or about 60 per cent. The ratio of repayments for all classes of borrowers has been only about 37 per cent. These rapid repayments by the banks are taken by competent observers as a strong indication of returning normal financial and banking conditions.

Bankers Finance Scholarships

The American Bankers Association Foundation for Education in Economics has since its establishment in 1928, awarded 354 college loan scholarships, the total loans repaid in that period being $262,000 and the amount now outstanding $36,900. The total investments of its funds are $540,000.

College Education Denied, Nazis Glorify Plain Jobs To Dejected German Youth

By W. E. BROCKMANN.

Berlin. (AP)—The duty of not getting a university education in this traditional land of scholarship is being impressed upon some 11,000 students whose hopes of going to college were dashed last December when Nazi authorities cut in half the attendance at institutions of higher learning.

The purpose of the decree, it was stated, was to cut down the surplus of university graduates. The system of examination since been put into effect, has left many preparatory students with little hope of reaching college.

"Patriotic merit" is the criterion for the rubber stamp atop the diploma of every student who does his "arbitrarily" or college preparatory work, and which alone permits matriculation at a university.

By virtue of the December decree the 15,000 admitted students are divided among German states according to populations; thus in Prussia 6,954 were readmitted, in Bavaria, 1,670 and so on.

Parents Resent Decree

In no case may women students in any state exceed 10 per cent of the total allotted to that state.

According to one Dresden school official, who made a report at a meeting of educators, 150 parents in his city made verbal complaints against the new system. None, however, he added, cared to sign a petition on their grievances.

At the same educators' meeting, to which the public was not admitted, it was revealed that the wish of one father that his son study law so he later might take over the legal department in the parental factory, was refused.

A curious case, almost leading to a diplomatic incident, also was reported. The son of a German father and Japanese mother, whose parents wished him to study, was refused admission to a university.

The father pointed out that his son was a "non-Aryan" but the authorities insisted that the son was a German citizen, and therefore the exception made in the case of foreigners wishing to study at German universities could not apply.

Lecturers Cite Hitler

As a last resort the father sought the aid of the Japanese embassy, and it was only after the Japanese expressed willingness to give the youth Japanese citizenship, that the Nazi authorities relented.

Feeling against the educational measures is being countered by student-parent lectures at which Hitler's utterances against "trained intellectualism" are being cited.

At a recent Berlin meeting, young men and women, who had been turned away from university doors were told:

"It is Hitler's idea that students should snap out of the bad habit of over-estimating professions like civil service, and the intellectual professions in general."

"What we need," the speaker continued, "are people competent in matters of practical life."

Comfortable Life Decried

Sponsored by the Berlin Association of Business Men, the purpose of the meeting was to interest the rejected students in office and factory jobs.

No one ought to do what seems to be the most comfortable thing," said Dr. Otto Christian Fischer. He promised volunteers a "Tagelohn" or recreational center—as a substitute for college atmosphere.

Dr. Liebenberg, representing Robert Ley, leader of the labor front, expressed astonishment that the rejected students weren't flocking to public employment agencies. Among the "golden opportunities" he cited were positions for 10 stenographers and several bookkeepers and he wound up his list exhorting on futures of mechanics and locksmiths, and the pleasantness of factory apprenticeships.

Conscript Work Hinted

"You'd be surprised," he said, "what adventures are in store for persons even if they don't have university educations?"

Offering to "place" students in jobs for which they believed themselves best suited, he urged students to sign up at once—before the placement system became compulsory.

"Better than wisdom is realization," said Dr. Waldmann in conclusion, and, discerning the root of "modern decadence" in the French revolution, he said that in the third reich—"God be praised, worship of reason has ceased."

Chile Joins Forestry And Health.

Santiago, Chile. (AP)—Killing two birds with one stone, the ministry of public education has opened a mountain health camp for children who are to plant trees and develop government land as a part of a forestry course.

Up to 6900 more firing charges in every gallon of improved Super-Shell

More Mileage and More Power now possible for motorists through new Super-Charging process developed by SHELL...

THINK WHAT IT MEANS to you to have these extra firing charges packed into every gallon of Super-Shell!

Every firing charge inside the cylinders drives your car forward. These added firing charges are a free gift of power and mileage.

Even a single ounce of this super-charged fuel contains as many as 54 extra firing charges! Up to 6900 extra in every gallon.

The whole country's talking about its EXTRA MILEAGE! Owners of Fords, Chevrolets, Plymouths are reporting that Super-Shell is giving them from 1/2 up to 2 more miles per gallon.

Remember, too, that Super-Shell has a higher anti-knock rating. And it's also adjusted for climate. In fact, Shell originated "climatic control" seven years ago.

You'll find this new-type gasoline in Super-Shell pumps... and at no extra cost. Get a tankful today.

HERE—inside the cylinders of your car—are the firing charges that generate the power to turn your wheels. Naturally, all these EXTRA firing charges in Super-Shell give you greater mileage and more power.

Super-SHELL

Now Super-Charged at NO EXTRA COST

"MY CHEVROLET seemed so slow in getting up speed—until I tried your super-charged gasoline," says Miss Veima Curran, of Baltimore, Maryland.

"A '29 FORD with 55,000 miles behind it ought to be retired. But not this car of mine: super-charged gasoline has it doing a swell job," exclaims Frank S. Stalfire, of Philadelphia.

"MY '30 PACKARD EIGHT, which has gone over 60,000 miles, had begun to show its age until you came out with this gasoline. All its old power is back now," states E. M. Hogan, of Watertown, Mass.

Copyright, 1934, Shell Eastern Petroleum Products, Inc.

RACING CARS and big transport planes are equipped with mechanical super-chargers that force gasoline under pressure into the combustion chambers to get more firing charges per gallon. By Shell's "re-making" process, Super-Shell itself is super-charged with up to 6900 more firing charges per gallon.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Boris Karloff, between bogey-man scenes the other day, volunteered an answer, or several answers, to the question of film stars' frequent lack of acquaintance with each other.

"Meet and mingle with the stars" is excellent bait for tourists, but it is true, as we pointed out recently, that many stars don't meet and mingle with each other.

Here are Karloff's reasons:
For one thing, a great many stars work very hard during a picture, and after it is done they want to relax completely, going away from Hollywood, or "diagnosing" at home to rest. Karloff cites himself as an example. Wallace Beery, Ken Maynard, Slim Summerville (who "lives" at Laguna Beach) and Paul Lukas, who likes aerial excursions, are others.

Cliques An Answer

For another, there is the prevalence of cliques, or social groups that go in for different forms of entertainment. There is the set—or sets—that like night life, parties, and jollity in the lighter vein. Even in this general grouping there are subdivisions, comprising smaller groups who go to different places, travel in a separate social lane, and acquire at best a nodding acquaintance with fellow film players who enjoy night life equally.

Then there are the players who like to stay at home and read books, who enjoy simple "family life," and are just as happy to party once a night club or to a party. Hobbies which engross much of a star's spare time bring him into contact with others who share a like enthusiasm, but are not conducive to mixing with those who, equally absorbed in a special interest, prefer some other.

Cricketers And Poloists

Karloff personally likes cricket, which gives him a common meeting ground with other Englishmen, like C. Aubrey Smith, who enjoy that game. There's the polo crowd—Will Rogers, Bob Montgomery, Jack Holt, Clark Gable, notably—and the tennis enthusiasts. Lawrence Grant's hobby is photography, which takes most of his spare time. Elissa Landi's writing, a second profession rather than a hobby, absorbs her.

Obviously not conducive to the widening of stellar acquaintance lists is Hollywood's habit of keeping most of its big names under contract. Some are "fanned out" to other lots, but many—Joan Crawford, Marlene Dietrich, Mae West, among others—make all their films at one studio.

The big handicap, of course, is the geographic location of the center, for which "Hollywood" is but a symbolic name. The studios are widely separated, and the stars live in various scattered communities extending from Malibu to Laguna Beach, from Pasadena to Santa Monica.

Five Largest Ports

Considering only harbors having upon their shores cities of commercial importance, the five largest in area are: Port Phillip, Melbourne Harbor, Australia, approximately 400 square miles; Yokohama, Japan, 200 square miles; New York city, 175 square miles; San Francisco, 70 square miles; Bombay, India, 60 square miles.

At The Theatres

Today

Kingston: "Thirty Day Princess." Some of the wise boys who tell not but scheme all day get together and launch a bond issue with a make-believe princess as the inspiration. The idea, from the pen of Clarence Budington Kelland, works well on the screen, and this little adventurous comedy proves likable and exciting drama. Sylvia Sydney is given an excellent part to portray after a series of mediocre films, and she has a grand time in the role of the make-believe princess. Gary Grant, Edward Arnold, Vince Barnett and Henry Stephenson are in the supporting cast. There are bits of gay comedy in this show, some real excitement, and plenty of romance for the sentimentalists.

Orpheum: "To the Last Man" and "Shadows of Sing Sing." Buster Crabbe, Randolph Scott and Esther Halston create the action for the first feature, a Zane Grey western drama about feuds, romance and constant trouble. The cast does much to make the play interesting entertainment, and the story, although somewhat changed from the original novel, is exciting enough. "Shadows of Sing Sing" is the story of crime, criminal detention, and prison life. Bruce Cabot and Mary Brian are co-featured.

Broadway: "What Angel" and "Merry Wives of Reno." The history of a waterfront tough guy is well portrayed by Victor McLaglen in the first feature. He also is somewhat of a scab in the opening part of the film, for he sells out his friend for his own advantage. Later, however, he proves himself a real fellow by making a noble sacrifice for the man he once betrayed. The girl in the story is Dorothy Dell, and she is well cast as the young lady who waits and waits for the man she loves. This man is played by Preston Foster, and due to McLaglen's selfish victim of circumstances during most of the play. "Merry Wives of Reno" takes the divorce problem in a light vein. Glenda Farrell heads the cast.

Tomorrow

Kingston: "Manhattan Melodrama." One of the biggest and better shows is this unusually noteworthy drama of two brothers who rise in the world along different paths, one a gambler, the other a lawyer who mixes politics with his profession and climbs high. The carefree, reckless gambler is well portrayed by Clark Gable, and the sincere, cautious lawyer is brilliantly enacted by William Powell. Gable haunts the gambling dens of the big city while Powell seeks to clean up these same places and make them respectable. Along with this different viewpoint between the two men, they are both in love with the same girl, and she is in love with both of them, a mess if there ever was one. Against a background of excitement, humor, romance, gambling and racing, this talkie moves along briskly and intelligently from the opening flash. It is one of the best of the current films, and its excellent direction and cast leave little to be desired. Myrna Loy is also featured in the large cast. Worth seeing.

A training school for these clerks will be held in Amsterdam on June 10 and 11 under the direction of the New York State Conference of Mayors and the New York State Association of City and Village Clerks. The school will be a feature of the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the New York State Association of City and Village Clerks.

This school is a part of the comprehensive training program being offered by the Mayors' Conference for fifteen thousand municipal officials of New York state.

Blacky Bear's Cries

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
Jupiter climbed up on top of the well thinking how wonderful it would be to have some cool well water on his hot face and paws. Then Blacky would have a turn at it.

He stepped inside the bucket but looked at Blacky sadly.

"There isn't a drop of water in it," he growled.

"It probably has to be let down into the well," said Blacky. "I'll give you a shore and then you'll be in the bucket over the open space that holds the water."

But Blacky's knowledge of wells was not very great. Once he had a delicious drink of water from something his mother called a well spring, but it was not deep at all. They had just bent over a few boards and had had all they wanted to drink. Blacky imagined that Jupiter would be able to do the same.

So he gave Jupiter, who was sitting up in the bucket, a push. It was good of him, he thought, to let Jupiter have water at once so as to cool his stings. But if he let Jupiter go first then he would enjoy the water for a longer time.

Neither knew anything about wells—except that water was to be found in them.

Suddenly Blacky heard a thin, far away, frightening cry. It was like Jupiter's voice but so much, much smaller.

Blacky looked over the side of the well. It was so deep and dark. He had had no idea that it was deep like this.

"Mama, mama, mama," Blacky cried. "Oh, Mama Bear, come here!"

Tomorrow—"Honey Bear Comes"

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—Two major committees of the house are making faces at each other behind the scenes at present, but any day now they may step out in the open and exchange punches in earnest.

One is fighting for its existence. The other is attempting to increase its power and prestige.

The two principals are the committee on rivers and harbors, as it is called, and the committee on dead-end control, created 15 years ago.

The chairman of the two committees are Mansfield of Texas and Wilson of Louisiana, respectively.

The issue was drawn when the President announced he has under consideration plans for comprehensive improvement of the nation's waterway system for all national purposes. The proposed plan embraces navigation, flood control, power development, irrigation and other related subjects.

Committee Competition

WITH such a legislative plum in prospect, both committees began a contest for the honor of considering and reporting the bill to the house.

Rivers and harbors contends that it has jurisdiction and the chairman of that committee fairly observes that it would require a "wide field of the imagination to consider such questions as flood control problems."

The flood control committee replies through its chairman that "the major features involved in all of the questions relate to flood control."

Under the rules of the house the speaker is vested with the right to refer proposed legislation to the proper committee. It is, however, to be made his ruling under committee can appeal to the house.

Once the measure has been referred by the speaker and a contest for jurisdiction begun by another committee, the house must vote without further and no opportunity for debating the issue is possible.

Resignations Pending

THREE two committees probably watch each other more closely than any other two similar organizations in the house. Each is jealous of the other.

Townsend of Massachusetts, a former member of rivers and harbors but now ranking republican on the committee, was charged on the floor of the house recently that the flood control body was created in 1916 "to take care of some ambitious men who wanted positions."

Those on the inside say that if Speaker Rainey refers the President's proposal to the flood control committee and the house sustains him, the entire membership of rivers and harbors will offer their resignations immediately.

As a matter of fact, they assert, Chairman Mansfield has the resignations of all of the committee except one in his pocket at the present time for use if such a thing happens.

LAUNDERING

Home Laundering is Easily Done

WHEN HOT WATER IS ALWAYS HANDY

FOR the entire family wash for the week, or for quick sudsing of a few of your finer things, you'll enjoy having hot water ready at the faucet when you have installed an automatic storage water-heater (gas or electric).

Actually the cost of this modern hot water convenience, for bathing, cleaning and every other home use as well as for washing, is no more than you can save on your own laundering. 15c per day will cover the total cost for the average home—not in addition to what you already pay for hot water, but 15c total fuel cost. (Slightly less on the city gas mains.)

The cost to install an automatic storage water-heater (gas or electric) will depend, of course, on the heater you select, but the terms of purchase will probably be no more than 50c per week.

AMERICAN THIRST DRIES BEER OASIS

Winchester, England (P).—By their taste for free beer, American tourists have caused a break in one of this country's most famous traditions.

For 500 years, without a day's break, free bread and ale have been given to all who applied at the buttry of St. Cross hospital.

This gift was established by a brother of King Stephen as a wayfarer's duty but American visitors have applied out of curiosity in such numbers that the hospital funds cannot provide enough beer for them.

As a result, the free beer issue is to be limited during the tourist season to two pints a day.

Votes Four Bills Permitting Suits
Against State For Damages Caused By Wild Game—Two Bills Approved.

Albany, N. Y., May 25 (Ap.)—Four bills permitting suits against the state for damages caused by wild game went in Governor Lehman's wastebasket today, vetoed on the ground that they would interfere with the state's game protection program.

One was an outgrowth of injuries caused John F. Egert when a pheasant flew through the windshield of his automobile while he was driving on a public highway in Onondaga county.

Three others represented claims of men whose property allegedly had been damaged by rabbits.

Of the pheasant accident, the governor said:

"This is apparently a sad case and the claimant has my sympathy because of the condition in which he now finds himself.

"That there is no liability on the part of the state at the present time for occurrences of this sort has been determined by the court of appeals. If the bill were approved the state would be hampered in the protection and preservation of game. A dangerous precedent would be created and the way opened for innumerable bills of the same character."

Other bills acted upon by the governor included:

Approved—

Cornalre bill appropriating $50,000 from the general improvement fund for construction of a highway bridge across the Black river between Champion and Leray in Jefferson county, adjacent to the Pine Plains National Guard camp.

Governor Lehman said the present bridge was "apt to collapse at any time under the weight of heavy guns and caissons."

Bureau bill permitting the Public Service Commission to require bus lines to carry bonds or insurance for death, injuries or damage to property caused in the operation of busses.

Vetoed—

H. O'Brien bill putting upon the State Labor Department the duty of requiring safety devices installed for the protection of men working about high tension wires. Labor Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews "reluctantly" suggested the veto.

He felt the bill carried no appropriation and his department had no facilities for undertaking this work.

Swartz bill permitting villages to compromise unpaid taxes. Approval of such a bill, the governor said, would encourage non-payment of taxes in the future.

ROYAL EXILES WORK
AT VARIOUS TRADES

Many Russian Nobles Are Now Penniless.

London.—Where are Russia's royal exiles?

Interest in them has been aroused here by the Ethel suit brought by Princess Irina Youssouff against the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Film company. The princess alleged that the film "Rasputin" depicted her as being seduced by the monk, Rasputin.

The court awarded her £25,000 damages after a hearing, packed with the drama of Prince Youssouff's description of how he killed Rasputin. It was the revelation, however, that the Youssouffs, once among the wealthiest in Europe, are now comparatively penniless that led to the interest in the fate of other Russian exiles.

Investigations have shown that most of them are in London, Paris, and New York working for their living.

Grand Duke Cyril in France.

The head of them, the Grand Duke Cyril, lives at St. Briac, near Dinard, France. He has little money, but frequently is seen on gala nights at the casinos.

The Grand Duchess Marie of Russia is in America, where also is Prince George of Russia. His first job was with a firm of interior decorators in London. Then he became a floorwalker in one of the largest department stores in New York. Now he is once more with a firm of interior decorators.

Prince Serge Obolensky was married to Miss Alice Astor and also is in New York. After the divorce at Reno he was said to have become engaged to an even richer American heiress, but he is still unmarried.

Prince Vassili sells perfume in the United States. Prince Paul Chavazze is in the Cunard offices in New York. He is the husband of Princess Nina of Russia.

Princess Xenia of Russia married W. B. Leeds, the American millionaire, and was the first Russian royalty to sponsor the mysterious woman who claims to be the Grand Duchess Anastasia of Russia. The marriage was dissolved in 1930.

In London there is the former Grand Duchess Zia and the former Grand Duchess Nadja, both happily married. Sir Harold Wernher, the husband of the first named, is immensely rich. The second married Lord Milford Haven, a cousin of King George.

Dress Designers.

Princess Maria Bariatinski and her mother started to earn a living as dress designers in the fashionable West End district. Then she married James Ford, an officer in the crack guards regiment.

Also in the West End district there is an antique store run by Prince Vladimir Galitzine. Next door is the store of Princess Troubetzkoy, whose son is the brilliant pianist, Prince George Chavazze.

Princess Youssouff's mother, the Grand Duchess Xenia, lives in a cottage in the grounds of Windsor park, given her by the king, but her sons are scattered.

Prince Andrew of Russia, who used to live in Rome, now lives in Paris like his brother, Prince Theodore. Prince Rostislav works in a store in New York.

Princess Nikita used to run a dressmaker's store in Paris, and Prince Dmitri used to be the assistant manager at Chanel's, the exclusive Paris dress designers, having married the very attractive daughter of the manager, Prince Koutousoff. Prince Dmitri is now a stock broker.

Besides Prince Vladimir Galitzine there is his cousin who married Colonel Zhivovitch, who started as a taxi driver in London and now owns a small garage.

Late Oil Man's Daughter

Inherits Four Millions

Dallas, Texas.—The wealthiest girl in Texas is a thirteen-year-old girl, Mildred Yount, adopted daughter of the late M. F. Yount, multimillionaire oil operator and discoverer of the second Spindletop oil field at Beaumont.

An inventory of her father's estate shows that her half of the community property is valued at more than $4,000,000. The entire estate, to be shared between the girl and Mrs. Yount, has a value of $8,000,000. Virtually all of the fortune is in stocks and real estate.

Mildred, a typical American girl, was a favorite with her father and was his almost constant companion.

She has few definite plans for the future. Her education will be thorough. She will attend college, probably the University of Texas, and will travel abroad.

On The Radio Day By Day

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD.
Time to Eastern Daylight.

New York, May 25.—It's the usual in broadcasting that the networks are turning to new ideas. Here are three instances of this tendency.

First on the list is found a radio "song" by a bird in England and another bird in New York. Maybe they won't be singing exactly the same tune, but the idea is to pick up the song of the Nightingale in England and blend it with the tune of an American Canary. This broadcast is slated for WJZ-NBC at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday.

Further from the animal kingdom is to come the rattle of a rattlesnake and the puff of a puff adder from the Bronx Zoo on WABC-CBS Saturday morning, June 2.

On June 15, if tapers-in to CBS hear a lot of conversation it will merely be the telephone exchange of New York's Chinatown in action. The chain has obtained permission to eavesdrop for a 15-minute period at the exchange where 2,000 phone users are Chinese.

PORT EWEN SCOUTS TO PRESENT TWO PLAYS

Boy Scouts Troop 26 will present two plays this evening at 8 o'clock. The first play is the "Awkward Squad". Lieut. Mustard of the Second, Hot Tamales, (Jack Spinnenweber) with the assistance of Sergeant Drill (Robert Walker) has great difficulty in enrolling the volunteers for the Spanish American War. The situations are very humorous. Cyrus Green of Jayville, a typical country hick, (Vincent Secor) Hans Anheuser Pliesner Wartzenburger Hofbrau, Jr. the smart Dutchman who misunderstands everything. Bill Ferguson (Percy Harold Hooper Hooper, 2d) the English boy who says golf and never works. Kenneth Englas, (Nicholas J. O'Shaughnessy) the fighting Irishman. Clifton Turk, (Salvation Army lassie who brings important news, (Miss Doris Windrum), and Bolter, Percy's assistant (Raymond Seaman).

The second play is "Spook Island". It contains the thriller, adventure and humor of alive American boys who are on a camping trip. Wheeler, Frederick DeWitt; Beanie, Warren Ferguson; Skip, William Windrum; Tubby, the gang's fat pal; are boys who are on an overnight camping trip. Reginald Swinerton Van Peterbury, Jr., the son of the richest man in town, (William Seale) is just learning to rough it with the gang, yet he proves to be the hero of the mystery that develops during the night on Spook Island. Evli Eye Ike, (Nicholas Oringer) and Jake de Rat, (Donald Terpening) are the lains. Lester Wharton, the son of Judge Wharton, is the kidnapped victim, (Walter Clark). Judge Wharton, Raymond Seaman and Captain Judson (William Clark) bring the play to a surprisingly finish.

The play is given in order that the boys may earn money for camp. They sincerely appreciate the patronage of the public.

The Beautiful and Dumb
Betty eats carrots for Vitamin A, spinach for Vitamin B, from a herd of cows that leisurely browse on yeast, comes C and D. Betty is balanced right up to the chin with Vitamin E and that—But there's not enough letters in our alphabet to balance her under her hat.

Tom—Do you know anything about flirting?
Man—I thought I did, but the girl I tried my system on married me.

With the advent of her first baby a mother thinks she has discovered an entirely new language.

A minister was sent for by an elderly lady.

Elderly Lady—Oh, sir, I hope you will excuse my asking you to call, but when I heard you did so remind me of my brother, who was took from me, that I felt I simply must speak with you. He was a salesman, and such a wonderful talker. Minister—(sympathetically)—And how long ago did your brother die? Elderly Lady—Oh, sir, he isn't dead. He was took to the asylum.

A philanthropist is one whose generosity is praised because he left what he couldn't take with him.

Waiter—All right, sir, all right. You will get served in time.
Diner—Yes, but I'm anxious to get through this meal before you raise the prices any more.

Give a stubborn man his way and he will credit you with having excellent judgment.

Little Junior (on return from dentist)—The doctor told me before he began that if I screamed, cried or yelled it would cost me a dollar, and if I was a good boy, it would be only 50 cents.

His Mother—Did you scream, darling?
Junior—How could I? You only gave me 50 cents.

So live that you will not have to peep out of the window to see if a bill collector is at the door.

Little Grace—Why are there no marriages in heaven, Daddy dear?
Daddy—(after stealthy glance around)—Because that would not be heaven, my dear.

Grandma Samantha Smathers from near Brushville says in her days the young fellows didn't think so much about a girl's beauty as they did about a comfortable hammock on a cool porch and a nice cake.

Little MacDonald (to butcher)—Give me 10 cents' worth of dog meat, and be sure it's fresh, for the last time you gave it to me Daddy got awfully sick.

One of the pleasant episodes of life is making plans to spend money that you never get.

Sunday School Teacher—Junior, can you quote something from the Bible to show that a man should not have two wives?
Junior—Yes—No man can serve two masters.

Just the same as a woman falls into a man's arms, men fall into a woman's hands.

Neighbor—Why are you letting your son study those dead languages at college?
Father—I'm expecting to make an undertaker out of him.

If people would stop talking about war and planning for war, munition makers would have to engage in some other line of business.

Magazine Editor (to author)—I'll give you 50 cents for this joke about President Roosevelt.
Poor Author—What's the matter with you? You gave me $1 for the same joke about President Coolidge.

There was never half the peril in anarchists' bombs that there is in handites' machine guns.

It takes a service station strike to show that America runs mainly on gas. Still, we dunno as that's news.

Some people in northern states are saying this may be another "year without summer." Sounds like southern propaganda.

Frog Held Able to Scream

A frog does not open its mouth during the ordinary course of its slapping, but it can scream with its wide mouth open when occasion demands. A frog being grasped by a large snake has been observed to do this most pitiously, making a startling noise.—Detroit News.

As Paul heard the little pig girl to the ground.

"Well run through this field," Perry says "Never fear."

We'll soon be a very long distance from here."

Japan Woos Brazil's Favor On Trade And Immigration

By PAUL SANDERS
Rio De Janeiro (AP)—Japan's trade push in South America and pre-occupation with pending immigration articles in the new Brazilian constitution has brought a persistent flow of Japanese propaganda in this country.

Japanese agency dispatches, citing Nippon's industrial development and arguments of the Japanese Association for Liberty of Trade in behalf of free commerce and against tariff barriers, were published in the Brazilian press.

The association's comments that the Hawley-Smoot tariff in the United States and the British empire trade pact contributed to economic nationalism were quoted at length.

The dispatches also describe in detail the increasing population problems of the crowded island empire. Japan nearly doubled her exports to Brazil in 1933 and sent 21,000 settlers to this country. The immigration movement set a record for Nipponese entries, and the trade gain was one of the biggest percentage advances for any country in comparison with 1932.

Lehman Signs Milk Publicity Measure

Albany, N. Y., May 25 (AP).—The way was cleared today for New York state to launch an advertising and sales promotion campaign to improve the farmer's market for milk.

This was accomplished with approval by Governor Herbert H. Lehman of the Overton bill to create a bureau of milk publicity in the department of agriculture and markets to encourage the consumption of milk and reduce surplus production.

The one year project is to be financed by a tax of one cent on each 160 pounds of fluid milk and cream borne equally by the producer and dealer.

At the same time Governor Lehman signed the Pearson act appropriating $1,500,000 to the Temporary Emergency Relief Administration to supply free milk to needy children.

Approval of the measure came as state milk control division officials, for the first time in years, were confronted with the possibility of a shortage of milk instead of a surplus which the measures are designed to remedy.

In a move to prevent a threatened shortage due to weather which has made poor pasture conditions, Agriculture Commissioner Charles H.

State Workers Dig For Huge Skeleton

Randolph, N. Y., May 25 (AP).—The mammoth whose skeleton is the object today of a search by scientists in this Cattaraugus county village was probably lured into a marsh on the shores of a vast lake in search for food somewhere between 50,000 and 75,000 years ago. In the opinion of Chris Harnage, assistant state paleontologist, directing the digging.

Succeeding ages, he said, saw the lake gradually filled up with all which preserved the bones of what may yet be known as the "Randolph mammoth." It was possibly 14 feet high and weighed all of 50,000 pounds, Harnage believes.

Workers digging a pond for the rearing of fish unearthed one of the great cranks and the skull of the animal a week ago. Since then scientists have been searching for the remaining bones.

Fabric Gloves Add Zest to the Mode High School May Queen Crowned

By CHERRIE NICHOLAS

the ends and edges with white guillemet gloves of crinkled cotton crepe with deep pointed cuffs of matching basket weave, such as the figure seated in the picture is wearing.

WHEN it comes to exciting events in the fashion realm the scene centers around fabric gloves and the matching accessories which go with them. The new gloves reveal style potentialities such as the rank and file of us never dreamed could exist in connection with what once upon a time we were wont to regard as mere hand coverings, with perhaps a little variation in design and stitching and color now and then.

However, here on the stage of fashion this very moment speaking for themselves is an endless array of gloves made of every material known to the ingenuity of man and revealing a wealth of ideas which are simply breathtaking in point of originality and audacious styling.

The importance of cotton for frocks and gowns, for smart ensembles and for suits started the furor by creating a need for gloves to co-ordinate in fabric and feeling with the new costume for daytime wear. This movement toward unique fabric gloves received additional impetus from the great French couturiers. With utmost enthusiasm Chanel and Talbot, those two foremost originators of sportswear vogues, sponsor fabric gloves with matched accessories for spring and summer. So sound and altogether intriguing is the idea, it is spreading like wildfire throughout fashion's domain.

The interpretations of this new mode for matching accessories are legion. Just a glimpse of the new gloves of linen with gingham printed linen cuffs together with a tailored flower of the printed linen to wear on coat lapel or at the shoulder of a sports frock (illustrated to the right) and your peace of mind will be destroyed until you become the happy possessor of just such or its equivalent.

Perhaps you will covet even more a white scarf collar of open basket-weave cotton, crossbarred in blue at Chamoisette, that practical standby, is glorified anew this season in gloves that feature pin-checked gingham cuffs lined with plain gingham, with matching reversible collar-scarf in the monotone and checked fabric. It appears also in gloves with cuffs and matching tailored bow for shoulder or neckline made of gayly printed cotton. A most attractive accessory set of crocheted string features gloves and scarf of white, with the flared ends of the scarf and the flared cuffs of the gloves in three graduated shades of blue.

But do not think that your new fabric gloves simply must have matched accessories to be smart. There are so many materials and so many styles in glove fashions in general, it is impossible to do more than enumerate the important trends. Watch for the very sheer milanese chiffons when the hot weather comes. They are in dark shades as well as white and are the coolest ever as well as wonderfully good looking.

Many of the new gloves in a variety of fabrics reflect the tailored vogue. Note the group pictured in the inset. Below to the left is a glove of dull luster diagonal oatmeal-type fabric in a slip-on style; above it, a washable chamoisette open cuff gauntlet with smart wood button at the wrist; next (top to the left) a sunshen slip-on with two tiny pearl buttons at the wrist and with scalloped edge; in the center, another chamoisette glove with novelty stitching trim in leaf design around the cutout edge of the open cuff (very smart in navy). Above to the right short slip-ons in fine honeycomb knit with rib-knit frill edging; below, gloves featuring a pleated self-fabric frill and diagonal stitching; and concluding the group a most outstanding type—crochet string slip-ons with lacy cuffs which look as if hand crocheted.

GREEK AND ROMAN TREND IN SANDALS

The shoe designers, who are taking themselves as seriously these days as the old masters immortalized in the Metropolitan museum, have delved into the ancient history of many nations to produce the array of sandals and ghillies, bejeweled dance slippers and tailored pumps that confront the modern woman whose grandmother used to be contented with one good serviceable pair of shoes a year.

The up-and-coming deb this season will wear sandals modeled after those worn by Helen of Troy, or beach slippers such as once adorned the pink-tipped toes of Cleopatra.

Authentically Greek and Roman in their inspiration are the new sandals worn not only for beach wear, but to complement any kind of summer sports costume. They're simple affairs made only of a couple of straps and a sole, leaving the toes altogether untrammelled.

The footgear of a monk in Capri provided the inspiration for the monk sandal which promises to be the rage of the summer resorts.

"In the Money" Silks for Spring Latest in Paris

The newest things in printed silks for spring are called "In the Money" prints. They represent the gold-silver lustrous and nonlustrous arguments, but without taking sides.

They are made in a series of eight patterns of five colors each—40 different colors in all. Those of us who have had glimpses of them agreed that they were the last word in the New Deal for dining out, tea parties, country clubs, and even the "Tag End" dances for those occasions when anybody might wear anything and yet nobody seems exactly sure of what will be the right thing.

Thin Patented

By letters patent of November 20, 1927, the title "Royal Highness" and "Prince" and "Princess" are (except for existing titles) restricted to the sovereign's children, the children of the sovereign's son, and the eldest living son of the eldest son of the sovereign.

QUILTED VELVET

By CHERRIE NICHOLAS

The call of the evening mode is for unique and fanciful capes. The lovely model pictured here is of quilted translucent velvet in a delectable leaf green. The Elizabethan collar is stiffened to flare away from the throat so as to be perfectly comfortable at the same time that it is extremely flattering.

Colored Towels

These soft camel-hair towels are being woven now in such combinations as a dull rose-purple with a tan check.

See Shell Shippers

Abalone on shell is the inspiration for some new evening slippers in opaline, satin luster.

Singing to His Wife

Singing to a wife is the custom of the natives of eastern Nepal. The young Lhasa tribesman, having led his prospective bride before the chief, burns incense and is only successful in his wooing if his repertoire pleases the chief. Otherwise a rival steps in and makes a match of it.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, May 25 — (State Dept. of Agri. & Mkts.)

The following quotations represent prices on sales by commission merchants and other original receivers on the New York city downtown wholesale district up to 8 a. m.

Heavier arrivals of new crop potatoes from South Carolina and Florida resulted in a further price slump in a dull market. South Carolina U. S. No. 1 Cobbler potatoes and Florida U. S. No. 1 Spaulding Rose potatoes sold from $2.75-$3.50 per barrel. Old crop white potato receipts were moderate and Maine was the chief source of supply. Demand was limited and the market inactive. Maine U. S. No. 1 Green Mountain potatoes in 100 lb. sacks jobbed out at $1.25-$1.50. The carlot rail shipment of new crop potatoes during the week ending May 19, 1934 increased to 2431 cars compared with 1521 the week before.

Lower prices featured the market for southern snap beans. Supplies were in excess of requirements. Many consignments were not accepted by commission merchants because of their inability to realize transportation costs. Bushel hampers of bonafide or green flat variety realized from 25 cents to $1.25, whereas the wax or yellow variety ranged from 25 cents to $1.50.

The short supply of asparagus sold readily and values strengthened with the market in the seller's favor. Jobbing sales were transacted within the price range of 75 cents to $4.00, principally $1.25-$2.50 per dozen bunches depending upon the grade.

Green peas showed variable quality and condition and sales on that account ranged widely. Receipts were more plentiful. North Carolina peas in bushel hampers ranged from 75 cents to $1.75, mainly $1.25-$1.50. Virginia stock in similar size packages brought $1.25-$1.75 while California consignments brought $1.25-$3.00, mainly $2.00-$2.50.

The green pea shipments via rail for the week beginning May 13, required 244 cars.

Aged Cabinet Trio Rules Over Nippon; Saito Ministry Stable After Two Years

By GLENN BABB

Tokyo (AP)—An aged triumvirate, all well past three score and ten, carries on the government of Japan because the empire's political forces produce no younger men to replace them.

The Cabinet of Admiral Viscount Makoto Saito, formed May 26, 1932, as a "stop-gap government" in the crisis succeeding the "patriotic" assassination of the then prime minister, feeble old Tsuyoshi Inukai, has reached its second birthday.

That is a venerable age for cabinets here. In the 48 years of cabinet government in Nippon, the average life of ministries has been 18 months and only 8 of the 31 previous cabinets have lasted more than two years.

Age Stabilizes Regime
Two turbulent years in office have shown the "big three" of this ministry to be the premier himself, 75 years old; his minister of finance, Korekiyo Takahashi, just turned 80, and the home minister, Baron Tatsu Yamamoto, 78.

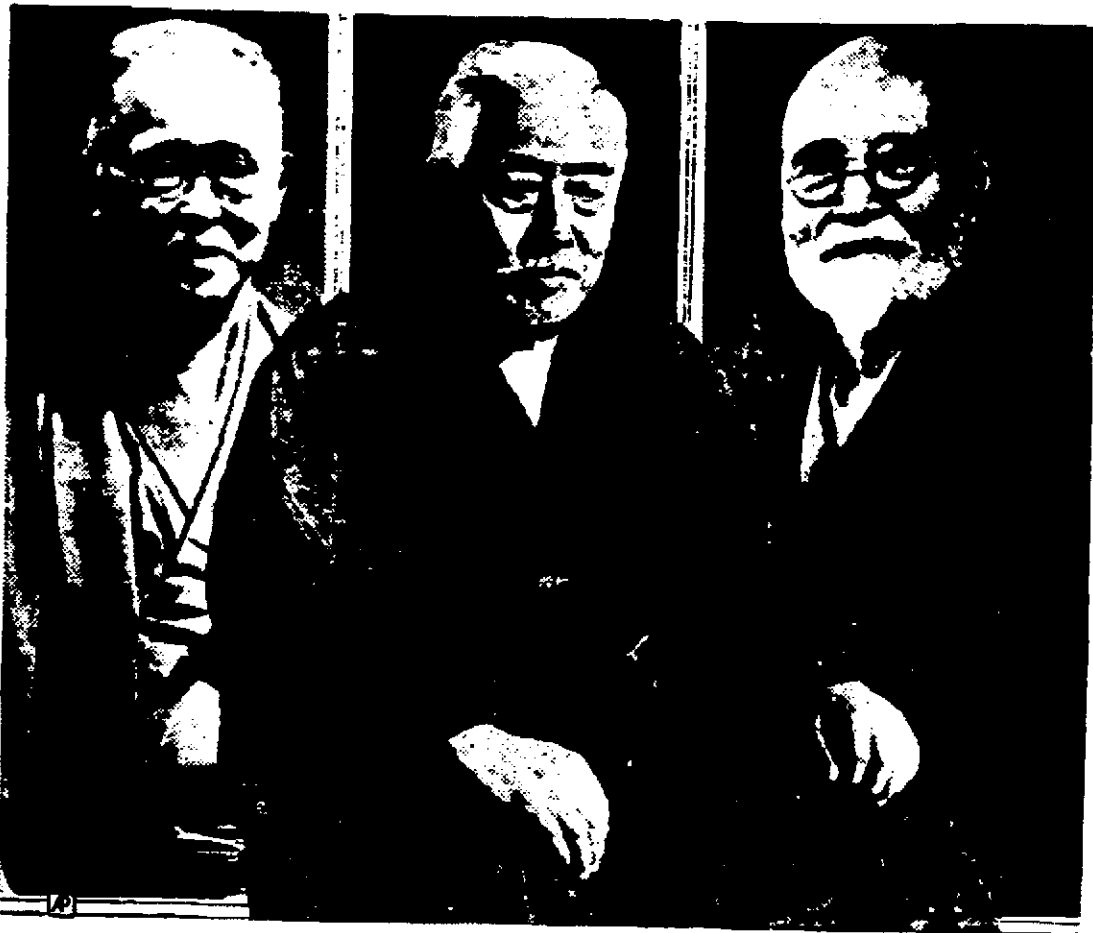

Younger cabinet members may be more in the public eye, but these hardy perennials give the cabinet its continued hold on public confidence, its prestige, stability and direction. Behind them stands another octogenarian, even more powerful, whose continued support promises them an indefinite lease of power. This is the only surviving "genro," or "elder statesman," Prince Kimmochi Saloni, whose words have oracular force in Japan's politics. He is 85.

Called From Retirement
When the crisis of 1932 summoned them to office, Saito, Takahashi and Yamamoto were in well-earned retirement.

Men dared not look more than a few days into the future. There was talk of a fascist dictatorship; of a seizure of government by the army; or even of a sanguinary peasant revolution. The call was for men of prestige and integrity, whom the nation could trust to pilot the ship of state into calmer seas.

Party Heads Summoned
Gh44s:de44xekb1FLqsea cmfwyp of The choice of Saito was widely acclaimed. He had won public confidence as governor general of Ko-

Venerable Pilots Of Japan's Ship Of State

Youth is not served in Japanese politics, as witness this trio who for two years have headed the government. Saito (center) is premier at the age of 76; Baron Tatsu Yamamoto (left) is home minister at 78, while Korekiyo Takahashi, minister of finance, has celebrated his 80th birthday.

rejoice after a highly creditable career in the navy.

As lieutenants he chose Takahashi, who was senior adviser, a sort of president emeritus, to the Seiyukai, majority party in parliament, and Yamamoto who held the same position in the other major party, the Minseitō.

It was expected that the Saito cabinet would remain for a few months at most, until the trend of politics became clearer. But two years have brought no such clarification.

Work On New Budget
Fascism remains a powerful element in the background. The army is still powerful, but not ready to assume responsibility for a ministry.

The parties have not regained enough public confidence to enable either to form a government.

So, with no successor in sight, the three old men remain in office. Now they are planning the budget for 1935-36 to be presented to the next regular diet session in January. All of which points to probably another year of life for this cabinet.

Open Season on Frogs Began Today

Game Protector Burton M. Castle calls attention to the fact that frogs have been classed by the conservation commission as quadrupeds and therefore come under the provision of the game law that forbids taking and before sunset.

The open season on green frogs and spring frogs began today and runs to September 30. On built from the open season is from June 16 to October 31.

During the open season frogs may be taken without a license by spearing, angling, or catching with hands or killing with a club only. They may be taken with a gun provided the person taking them has first procured a hunting and fishing license.

Bathe in Nude Any Day Except Sundays

Nudism No New Fad in Kingston
Judging by Provisions of an Ordinance Adopted in 1881, Which Permits Bathing in Nude on Any Day Except Sundays—How Ordinance Reads.

There is nothing new in nudism in Kingston judging by the provisions of an ordinance adopted by the Common Council on May 20, 1881, and approved by Charles Bray as mayor, which permits bathing in the nude in the city on any day except a Sunday. A hasty glance through the city records today reveals that the ordinance has never been repealed. The ordinance, however, does not mention or condone bathing in the nude on any other day, and it was evidently the intention of the city fathers to prohibit Sunday bathing.

The ordinance which speaks for itself reads as follows:

CITY ORDINANCE—An Ordinance to suppress bathing within the limits of the City of Kingston on Sunday.

Passed May 20, 1881.

The Common Council of the City of Kingston do ordain as follows: Section 1. It shall not be lawful for any person to bathe in any of the ponds or public streams within the limits of the City of Kingston in a nude state, on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday.

§ 2. Any person or persons found violating the provisions of the foregoing section shall be liable to arrest therefor, and upon conviction for such offense, shall be liable to pay a fine of five dollars for each and every offense.

§ 3. The Mayor is hereby authorized to employ one or more of the constables or special policemen of said city to enforce the provisions of this ordinance and to arrest any and all persons found violating the same and take them before the Recorder of said city to be dealt with according to law.

§ 4. This ordinance shall take effect immediately.

I hereby approve the foregoing ordinance.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 21st day of May, 1881.

CHARLES BRAY, Mayor.

I certify that the foregoing ordinance is a true copy of the original, as passed by the Common Council.

AUG. SCHEPMOES, City Clerk.

It will be recalled that within recent years a delegation of women of the city met with the Common Council and objected to the practice of summer visitors strolling through the streets of Kingston clad only in a one-piece bathing suit.

Whether the ordinance is intended to prevent bathing in the nude on any day of the week in Kingston or not the fact remains that the Kingston police have for many years halted the practice of young boys from swimming in the streams here in their birthday suits. And with summer close at hand and the old swimming hole beckoning invitingly all bathers should bear in mind that bathing in the nude will not be permitted.

Celebrate Anniversary.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. Division 5, celebrated their 32nd anniversary at a banquet at the Sea Grill on Main street Thursday evening. A large number of members were present, including two charter members. A very enjoyable time was enjoyed.

Triangle Club Had Annual Ladies' Night

The Kingston Triangle Club celebrated its Annual Ladies' Night meeting on Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. There were 35 Triangles, guests and lady friends who met and enjoyed the fine program and dinner.

After the chicken dinner, prepared by Mrs. Buley and served by her capable young lady assistants, Clarence Schoonmaker and Dan Bittner furnished the leadership for a period of singing of songs, old and new.

A short business session followed and among other matters of interest was the report of the play committee which announced that the Triangle Play, "The Heart Cry" produced with a cast from the very popular group of artists, The Rosendale Players, would be given in the Auditorium Theatre of the "Y" on Tuesday evening, June 5, and that all members were urged to dispose of their tickets as soon as possible.

The Ladies' Night Program Committee, Herman Schwenk and Addison Jones had prepared a very entertaining evening and the first part of the program was given by the Blue Ridge Rangers, well known local trio with their banjos, guitars and fiddles who play and sing mountain ballads.

Unfortunately, Fred Van Deusen, Kingston's Master of Tricks was unable to be present to mystify and entertain his friends. Chairman Herman Schwenk introduced Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman who outlined in a very clearly defined manner the Social Service Departments of the state and federal governments, with their many duties to the unemployed, work relief and other allied works. The mayor stressed the need for cooperation and interest in these matters which although relief at present because of depression, may become permanent programs because of the dependence now placed by many on these agencies that the qualities of initiative are weakened and the course of least resistance becomes a habit. The mayor also discussed the matter of supervised playgrounds and their possibilities as well as their problems, suggesting that the Triangle Club might find it an opportunity of value to study this proposition in all its angles.

After expressing his appreciation for the opportunity to appear in public with Mrs. Heiselman for a change and commending the club on its activities at the service club of the Y. M. C. A. the mayor and his wife retired not being able to stay any later to enjoy the balance of the evening.

The committee then presented Clarence S. Schoonmaker, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who enlarged somewhat on the mayor's remarks about playground work and then invited all those who could, to stay and enjoy a social hour sitting, becoming better acquainted and playing cards. Many could and an enjoyable hour was spent.

With the adjournment of the meeting it was heartily agreed that the Ladies' Night gathering was a decided success and the committee was congratulated on its activities.

Pain and Olive Soap.

In the advertisement of the Great Bull Super Market last night, there appeared an item of Palm Olive Soap at 2 cents. This was an error, as the item should have read Palm and Olive Soap at 3 cents.

1,500 Strikers Gather Financial At Auto-Lite Plant and Commercial

Ohio National Guardsmen on Sharp Watch for Renewed Rioting—The Watch for Arrival of Communists.

CLEVELAND, May 25 (AP).—A crowd of 1,500 strikers and sympathizers, bringing more bricks and assorted missiles, gathered at the plant of the Electric Auto-Lite Company late at night today and re-opened the bombardment of the building and troops which already had cost the lives of two men.

The crowd gathered at street intersections still strewn with the wreckage and debris of three days of rioting.

Guardsmen, laying a field telephone communication system, made an attempt to break up the crowd as paving bricks and chunks of concrete came hurtling toward the factory building.

The attack was aimless and less spirited than the fighting yesterday which led to hand-to-hand slugging and bayonets fixed, but did not use them.

City police today were on water, at train, bus, and interurban stations after they said they heard a report that a group of 200 communists was enroute here from Chicago and Detroit to join rioters.

The surveillance of visitors to the city was being carried on while a bombardment of missiles from angry members of a constantly growing crowd in excess of 1,500 persons was being laid down against Ohio National Guardsmen in the Electric Auto-Lite plant area.

At noon the Guardsmen, now 1,000 strong, deployed a large rectangular formation around the entire sector, a khaki-clad man with rifle and fixed bayonet to every 20-foot interval.

Hitherto, during the morning the guard details had been limited to single squads at strategic street intersections where automobiles as well as pedestrians were turned back.

New York, May 25 (AP).—The stock market appeared to be doing the double today and speculative enthusiasm was at an even lower ebb than in the preceding session. Some equities moved moderately on scattered buying, but as many others were either unchanged or slightly lower.

Equities were inclined to ignore a rally of about 2 cents a barrel in wheat which was based largely on further drought reports. Rubber futures rose and substantially and cotton and sugar were fairly steady. Bonds moved hardly in a restricted range and foreign exchanges registered unimportant fluctuations.

A rather firm tone was displayed by shares of American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, Union Carbide, General Motors, Chrysler, American Can, DuPont, Case, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, American Sugar Refining, Schenley, American Commercial Alcohol and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit. Most of the metals were faster, the oils were at a standstill and the utilities merely marked time. The rails were around their previous closing levels.

Some commentators were of the opinion that to a considerable degree, current and nearby uncertainties surrounding the economic picture have been accounted for, marketwise. It also was pointed out that the technical position of stocks seems to be satisfactory and that the recent subnormal activity shows that many issues may be at "sold out" levels.

Two Killed Today at Indianapolis Trials

Indianapolis, May 25 (AP).—Pete Kreis of Knoxville, Tenn., driver, and Bob Hahn of Chico, Calif., riding mechanic, were killed instantly here today while practicing for the 500-mile automobile race to be run next Wednesday.

The car traveling at terrific speed, went out of control just after it came out of the first turn. It ran over the outside retaining wall and struck a tree many feet below. The car was cut in two by the impact.

The car was owned by Harry Hartz of Los Angeles, and was one of the fastest entered in the race. Kreis was tuning it up preparatory to attempting to qualify this afternoon.

Barthou Proclaims Blunt French Policy

Paris, May 25 (AP).—Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, today bluntly proclaimed a French policy of "no immediate disarmament of France—no immediate rearmament of Germany."

The foreign minister sought to silence war talk in the Chamber of Deputies, by making an emphatic rejection of the idea that a conflict was coming.

However, he pledged a strong stand on the matter of German border clashes.

A whole galaxy of French military chiefs, including War Minister Denain and Naval Minister Pietri, is expected to accompany M. Barthou to Geneva next week to back up the French demand for a showdown on the question of armaments.

Barthou openly declared his opposition to the British proposal of "partial" rearmament for Germany and the disarmament of France.

Code Increases Fuel Oil Prices

As a result of the adoption of the petroleum code of the NRA users of fuel oil are going to pay largely increased rates. Under the code, now in effect, there will be a minimum price of seven cents and a top price of eight and three-quarters. These figures were confirmed on inquiry at the office of the A. R. Newcombe Oil Co. this morning, where it was stated that they would go into effect June 1 on grades 2 and 3, which they handle.

These rates compare with a former rate of about five and a half cents for commercial users and six and a half cents for residences.

Little, American, Gains British Final

Through One Up After Bouncing Battle With Garnett—James Wallace, England, Wins Over C. T. Linsley, U. S. Amateur King.

Greenock, Scotland, May 25 (AP).—James Little, husky San Francisco youth, today gained the final round of the British Amateur Golf championship by defeating Leslie Garnett of London, by one up at the 18th hole.

Little's opponent for the championship will be James Wallace, a national unemployed Scottish carpenter, who eliminated George Terry Dunlop, Jr., American amateur champion, by 2 and 1, in the semi-final.

The 36-hole championship round will be played tomorrow.

After turning all even, the American won the 12th to take the lead, but Garnett wiped out the deficit by winning the 13th hole. Little retained the lead at the 15th and then the Englishman squared the match at the 15th.

Garnett sank a great 16-foot putt for his birdie three at the home hole. Little, who appeared to have the match won after chipping his second eight feet from the cup, sighted his putt carefully. The ball held the line to the hole for half the distance and then curved away.

The cards:

Garnett in 535 444 443—37—74

Bingham to Pave Way Presbyterians Held General Assembly

Ambassador Tells British U. S. Policy To Broaden Scope of Conference—Japanese Message Received.

London, May 25 (AP).—The United States government, it was learned authoritatively today, has instructed Ambassador Robert W. Bingham to inform Great Britain that the United States is prepared to carry on preparation for the 1935 naval conference through normal diplomatic interchange and discussions.

Ambassador Bingham has informed the British government of Washington's attitude which was reported as being ready for a broadening of the conference to questions of technical naval aspects if such broadening should seem advisable.

Last week the British foreign office asked Ambassador Bingham, and, presumably, the Japanese, French and Italian ambassadors to inquire of their governments what steps they were willing to take looking forward to the preliminary preparations for the conference.

The American ambassador's instructions regarding Washington's attitude were in answer to this invitation.

The British government wished to know whether it would be advisable or helpful to hold preliminary diplomatic talks on technical questions and procedure in anticipation of the naval powers' conference.

It was said authoritatively that no actual meeting of representatives of the big naval powers is at present contemplated.

The present naval treaty whereby the United States, Great Britain, and Japan agreed that they would hold their navies to a 5-5-3 ratio, can be terminated in 1936, if denounced by any signatory prior to December 31.

His creator, W. Gilbert Patten (Burt L. Standish), has asked that the Superior Talking Pictures, Inc., be enjoined from using the name Frank Merriwell in a series of short films it has produced.

Patten, who feels that if Superior Talking Pictures, Inc., went ahead with its Frank Merriwell series he would be damaged $250,000 worth, said the Merriwell stories had circulated 123,600,000 copies to date.

Cleveland, May 25 (AP).—Appointment of E. Earl Hoover, of Glen side, Pa., as vice-moderator was announced today by Dr. William Chambers Covert, newly elected moderator of the Presbyterian church.

Dr. Covert, retiring general secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, was elected by the second ballot by more than 500 commissioners at the 146th general assembly yesterday.

Dr. Covert received 453 ballots and another conservative, the Rev. Herbert Booth Smith of Los Angeles, received 391. The Rev. James C. McConnell of Upper Darby, Pa., a candidate of the Fundamentalists group, received 31 votes on the second and final ballot.

The conservative group in the assembly, which forms a majority of the commissioners, has followed in matters of dogma and church principles a course midway between that of the so-called fundamentalists and modernists.

The modernists are those inclined to interpret biblical and other questions in the light of scientific discoveries, while the fundamentalists stress a more literal viewpoint.

The election was regarded as showing the strength of the conservative, which again will be tested when the fundamentalists oppose the organic union with the United Presbyterian Church.

MOHICAN SAY ENEMY DIVISION IS STRONGER

La Paz, Bolivia, May 25 (AP).—Three entire divisions of Paraguayan troops were reported in disorderly retreat through the jungles of the Gran Chaco today with Bolivian losses in not known.

The enemy divisions fled, said army dispatches from Canada Strong, after a surprise Bolivian counter-attack in which 4,000 Paraguayans were slain and twice that number wounded.

Despite reports of Bolivian victories the Paraguayan minister of defense said Paraguay's troops had halted the Bolivian attack at Canada Strong.

Dr. Covert received 453 ballots and another conservative, the Rev. Herbert Booth Smith of Los Angeles, received 391. The Rev. James C. McConnell of Upper Darby, Pa., a candidate of the Fundamentalists group, received 31 votes on the second and final ballot.

Newburgh Blanks Kingston, 5-0, DeGraff Stars For Elephants As Maroon's DUSO Chances Are Slim They Feature In Duckpin Matches

Thursday afternoon at Newburgh—The Newburgh team of Newburgh Free Academy defeated Kingston High in the first game of the DUSO championship series. The game was played at Newburgh and the home team won by a score of 5-0.

The Newburgh team with superb pitching and a barrage of heavy hits blanked Kingston in every inning of the game. Only two Newburgh pitchers were used, the other three being used for one or more hits. The Newburgh team got 5 hits. When the game was over, the Newburgh team was standing on the field. Kingston on the other hand went in after the game without a hit. Only three Newburgh men were able to connect with the apple safely, these being Murphy, Tiano and Zadany.

This makes Kingston's second in a row after winning five straight, and now after eliminating the Klasmans from attaining the DUSO championship. There is still one chance left for the locals to win the championship, this being very slim. The chance is that either Liberty or Middletown whom Newburgh is yet to play will defeat the Hilly City and that Kingston will defeat both Monticello and Port Jervis. In this case a would result between Newburgh and Kingston and a play-off would have to be arranged. However, if Newburgh plays the brand of baseball that she did yesterday, this one chance will be a slim possibility.

As far as pitching was concerned, Chum, Newburgh ace, took the honors of the day, fanning 10, walking one and allowing only three hits. Martin on the Kingston hill was hit rather freely, fanning five, walking two and allowing 12 hits.

Newburgh scored two runs in the fourth, Clacio scoring on Widmer's attempted sacrifice which turned out to be a hit, as Martin who picked up the hunt attempted to put Clacio out between third and home, unassisted and failed. Clacio scoring and Widmer reaching first. The other run in the fourth was scored by McKinstrie, who came home on Leibowitz's long high fly to Hopper.

Newburgh scored one run in the sixth, seventh and eighth, Thomas scoring on R. Hunter's Texas Leaguer in the sixth, Clacio scoring on McKinstrie's bunt in the seventh and Thomas scoring on Chum's long high fly to Mainer in the eighth.

Play by Play.
Following is the play by play account of the innings in which the runs were scored:

Fourth Inning, Newburgh—Clacio singled, McKinstrie singled, Clacio pulling up at third. Widmer grounded in the dirt. Martin who attempted to put out Clacio between third and home, unassisted. Martin failed. Clacio scoring and Widmer reaching first. Leibowitz fanned. Thomas singled. J. Hunter reached first on a bounding tricky bunt. R. Hunter singled. Thomas scoring. Chum flied to DeCicco. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning, Newburgh—Widmer flied to Tiano. Leibowitz fanned. Thomas singled. J. Hunter singled. R. Hunter hit a Texas leaguer. Thomas scoring. Chum flied to DeCicco. One run, three hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning, Newburgh—Sladski flied to Moore. Clacio singled and reached third on a wild throw by Tiano. McKinstrie bunted down the first base line. Clacio scoring and McKinstrie safely reaching first. Widmer walked. Leibowitz up. McKinstrie put out trying to steal home. Leibowitz out, Martin to Linden. Martin picking up Leibowitz' grounder out of the dirt with his bare hand to throw to first for the put out. One run, two hits, one error.

Eighth Inning, Newburgh—Thomas singled. J. Hunter singled. R. Hunter walked filling the bases. Chum flied to Mainer. Mainer throwing to Moore to put J. Hunter out at second. Thomas scoring. Sladski singled. Clacio flied to Murphy. One run, two hits, no errors.

Sideliners
There were about two Kingston spectators to every Newburgh spectator in the bleachers.

Johnny Murphy is the only Kingston player who has succeeded in hitting safely in every game this season.

The next game is with Saugerties at the Fair Grounds, next Wednesday at 4 o'clock.

Manager Jones Enters Fast Workouts

Baseball Picture Again As Agent for All Clubs

Harold Jones has come into the baseball picture again.

This morning in a call on the sports department of The Freeman, Jones, who last year managed the Jones All Stars, said he had opened a booking agency.

"Well, here I am again," said the manager as he entered the editorial room. "I have decided to get into baseball again this season. I just can't stay out of the game. I'd like to have something to say to the fans and players."

Jones lit up his big cigar and went on:

"Say that I have started a booking agency. My office is at 96 Broadway. It will be my policy to do business in a big way."

When asked what teams he intended to book, Jones said "I'll book 'em all, amateur and semi-pro. I can arrange dates with the New York Red Sox, the Jewish Giants, Colored Tigers and such clubs out of town. In Kingston I'll handle the business of the Davi All Stars and Berardi A. C. And if any other local clubs want me to transact their business I'll be glad to hear from them."

Trading Luck Runs Out.

With George Watkins, the outfielder, on the bench and Watson Clark, the former Brooklyn left-hander, unable to show a return to useful form, Colonel Terry's trading luck hasn't been so good.

This wasn't what influenced him to abandon tentative negotiations with Chicago and Cincinnati for replacements, calculated to bolster his infield and pitching staff, but he has decided at any rate to gamble with what he has on hand and in the hospital, for the balance of the National League season.

Terry isn't the only manager who has had deals turn a bit sour this year. The Red Sox, the Tigers and the White Sox, all of whom invested heavily in Philadelphia "ivory," are still wondering whether or not they were "taken in" by the old master, Connie Mack.

The Chicago Cubs so far have sliced the biggest dividend through the purchase of clouting Shub Klein. He is everything they advertised him to be and is well on the way to new National League home run record. If, indeed he does not take a real crack at Ruth's major league mark of 60.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

What, I asked several of the Giants, is the difference between the brothers Dean—Paul and Dizzy—who seem about to justify the spring training boast that they would do most of the pitching for the Cardinals this season?

Most of them agreed, is still more the ruggedness of the two Oklahomaers, chiefly for the reason that greater experience has helped them gain better control. But Paul, they also told me, is equally as fast, even more confident that his brother and may turn out to be the better pitcher in the long run.

"After beating Hubbell, Paul took over the broadcasting rights for the entire family," laughed one of the Giants. "He's going to be a tough kid to beat from now on."

A Great Fighter Passes.

The release of Burleigh Grimes by the Cardinals came as a surprise to baseball men who had noted the effective relief work done by the last of the spitball fingers. The answer is that the Cards just didn't have room for the veteran of 18 major league pitching campaigns, with so many young men coming along fast enough to earn regular jobs.

Old Burleigh will be missed. He was one of the last and greatest of the real fighters in baseball, a rough and tumble guy who never knew what it meant to quit and who never gave the opposition an even break. If he could avoid it, he dusted them off, fought for every advantage he could get and never was more dangerous than when put in a tight spot.

Grimes lived baseball with every thought and fibre. When it was all over he was ready to continue the debate, verbally or otherwise, with anybody who chose to give him an argument. He scaled the heights in 1931 when he blanked the Athletics in one game and beat them again in the seventh and deciding battle of that memorable world series. I can see him yet, standing in the center of a pop-eyed crowd in the hotel lobby, holding forth on how he stopped Fox, Simmons, Cochrane and the rest.

Pennant Contenders Stick Close Together In National League

By HUGH A. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The current trend of the National League race, instead of heading toward a decision, appears to be toward keeping the four contenders as closely bunched as possible.

Today's standings found Pittsburgh's Pirates with a clear lead of a half game after their 7-3 triumph over the Boston Braves, coupled with New York's 7 to 1 victory over the Cubs. Chicago had dropped to third a few percentage points behind the Cards, who trounced Brooklyn 7-1 while the fourth-place Giants were only one game out of the lead.

A home run by Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, rookie infielder, touched off the Pittsburgh fireworks in the seventh. Then Pittsburgh went on to get four more tallies in the eighth. Carl Hubbell, trounced by the Cardinals his last time out, held Chicago to four singles.

The Cardinals advance resulted from steady and timely hitting plus a couple of Brooklyn misplays and some effective hurling by Tex Carleton. Curt Davis won the other National League contest for the Phillies, 5 to 0 as he limited the Cincinnati Reds to three hits.

The St. Louis Browns continued their sparkling American League advance into third place by a 6 to 5 victory over Washington. Detroit stepped one percentage point behind the Browns despite a 6 to 3 triumph over the Athletics.

The Yankees stopped their downward slide by taking a 2 to 1 victory over the Chicago White Sox while Cleveland and Boston were rained out.

Mc Larnin Confident Of Retaining Title Battle of 3-Year-Olds Moves on to Belmont

Atlantic City, N. J., May 25 (AP)—While one-half of boxing's most colorful combination, Old "Pop" Foster, mumbler of trickery and deep, dark plots, the other half, soft-voiced Jimmy McLarnin, placidly winds up this business of preparing to bring sudden unconsciousness down upon another "aspiring young ring man."

Jimmy is certain he will tag out youthful Barney Ross, the lightweight champion, in Madison Square Garden's bowl on Long Island Monday night.

"He's a fast boxer," Jimmy says. "I've always found the best way to beat that type was to crowd them into a corner, where speed doesn't count, and let them have it with both hands. It works a very large part of the time."

McLarnin probably will have as great a weigh-in advantage as he ever has enjoyed by the time he climbs into the ring. He has to make 145 pounds, by private agreement, at noon Monday, or forfeit $10,000. But he will be at least 148 and possibly 149 by the time an expected capacity crowd of 70,000, paying close to $300,000, settles back for the fifteen-round battle.

Ross, a natural lightweight, is not expected to scale over 138 pounds at the weighing in Monday and may be as low as 136.

Foster, a grizzled 60-year-old veteran of bare knuckles days, is satisfied Jimmy's lay off of a year has not hurt his fighting ability.

"He has never boxed better," he says. "But I think Ross is planning some trickery with the gloves. I'm afraid we might get a nervous referee in there who'll stop the fight if someone gets cut a little. I don't like the look of things."

To Be London Policemen

In order to become a member of the metropolitan police force of London, the candidate must be a British subject of pure British descent, over twenty and under twenty-seven, at least 5 feet 9 inches tall, physically fit, and of good moral character. Detectives of the criminal investigation department are recruited from the ranks of the uniformed constables and every candidate must have done at least one year and not more than seven years' duty in uniform. An examination has to be passed.

"GATE CRASHING" IS NOW LONDON SPORT

Society Finds Way to Enrich Empty Purses.

London.—London's chaperoned "gate-crashing" season is open, and so are the empty cash tills of some of Britain's nobility.

From $20,000 to $100,000 will crash almost any gate in Britain—with a chaperone, often the possessor of a well-known titled name.

So well known are some of the society women here who will "introduce" the debutante daughters of their wealthy "friends" that more often than not the gates are crashed without the knowledge of the hostess. In other words a great deal of the time distinguished hostesses in London greet newcomers into the Mayfair set without in the least suspecting that the blushing girl's father paid a fat sum for the favor.

Chaperoned "gate-crashing," as distinguished from common, garden variety of gate-crashing, is an international method of operation. The difference is that in the former some body pays a big fee and an enormous expense account to have a perfectly legitimate member of London society "introduce" them to unsuspecting hostesses.

This type of "service" is available to anybody of any nationality who has enough money and desire to foot the bill.

The other kind of crashing seems to be reserved to Americans, according to trained observers. Little if any money is involved, it appears.

The American "gate-crasher" simply drives up to an unknown Mayfair door in a hired limousine and with a million dollars' worth of nerve, good looks and often borrowed evening gown and white fur, and announces an unknown name to an unknown hostess.

Nine times out of ten she gets away with it. London hostesses don't know the names of all the people who attend big receptions; one more or less makes little or no difference if she looks well.

Christ's Statue Bleeds, Catholic Group Asserts

Santa Cruz, Calif.—The story of how a statue of Christ crucified, enshrined in the sanctuary of St. Joseph's church at Asti, Italy, bled while an orphan girl, Maria Tartaglinio, knelt before it in worship, was related for the first time here by the Oblate fathers of St. Joseph, whose mother house is in Asti.

Details and pictures of the miracle were revealed after an ecclesiastical diocesan tribunal investigated the manifestation and became convinced, through careful watching and research, that trickery was not involved. The Oblate fathers said the pictures were taken by Rev. Maurizio Borozzo, canon of the diocese of Asti, as blood actually flowed from the statue's heart wound.

Copies of the pictures were sent to Rev. Sylvio Masante, O. E. J., Oblate superior of California, with permission to publish them and to announce the miracle.

Father Masante said the miracle was first manifest on Friday, August 11, 1933, as the devout orphan knelt before the crucifix in the Hospital of Santa Chiara which is a part of the mother house of the Oblate fathers.

Electric Light Plant Profits Pay City Taxes

Middletown, Pa.—Middletown will remain a taxless borough for another year.

City council abandoned taxes in 1933 and the borough owned electric light plant paid the bills so well that it was decided 1934 also could be a taxless year for the property owners.

It also was found that enough money had accumulated over and above municipal expenses to buy a new borough hall.

H. V. McNair, burgess of Middletown, is a brother of William M. McNair, present mayor of Pittsburgh, Pa., who was the first Democratic mayor elected in that city in 25 years.

Robot Greets Visitors at Philadelphia School

Philadelphia.—The robot voice of Mechanical Egbert greets visitors to Franklin Institute here. "How do you do?" he booms as soon as his mechanical eye spies a visitor. "I am very glad to see you." Egbert's tones are clear and cultured; he even pauses a bit to emphasize the "very glad."

Then his right hand rises in a stiff salute, and he awaits the next visitor. The secret of his success lies in an ordinary automobile headlight, concealed behind a radiator in the lobby. A special screen allows only invisible infra-red rays to shine on two photo-electric "eyes" in the platform on which Egbert stands.

Eskimo Vocabulary Is Tough, Explorer Says

Provincetown, Mass.—Years ago somebody told Commander Donald B. MacMillan, famed explorer, that the Eskimo vocabulary contained only about 300 words.

So Mr. MacMillan undertook to master the language, confident that by juggling down the 300 words in the order that he heard them he soon would be able to speak like a native.

But he has found Eskimo the most difficult language on earth. Already he has recorded no less than 2,500 words, and he is still at it.

Flown in Cold Rush Days

In the first year of the California gold rush, lack of adequate shelter, proper food, and medical supplies, together with the lack of preparation for the unusual hardships took a toll of about 70,000 lives by fever, dysentery and other diseases.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

The Wrong Matthew Chicago—Judge Matthew Harrison said to witness Harry Merkin: "Raise your right hand and be sworn."

"I cannot swear," pleaded Merkin. "Matthew forbids it." "You shouldn't call the court by his first name," admonished the clerk.

"I wasn't talking about the judge. I was talking about Matthew in the Bible, who says you mustn't swear," Merkin expostulated.

Whereupon he held up his right hand and solemnly affirmed that he would tell the truth about a window breaking.

Sprits of Spring

Philadelphia.—Amid hundreds of trees, police found John Stegea gambling without so much as a single leaf to protect him from the gaze of strollers in Fairmount Park.

His clothes were half a mile away. Stegea told a magistrate he had been swimming, but couldn't remember where. The court said he could go free if the alienists approved.

Street Corner Student

Oklahoma City.—For hanging around the corner drug store nights until midnight, Kenneth Zeigler, 14, has been commended by his high school principal.

Kenneth's step-father is unemployed and there are no lights in the house, so the young student does his lessons at a fountain table.

Sheriff Sheds His Shirt

St. Paul, Minn.—A reputation of generosity, Sheriff George Mueller found, is a costly thing to uphold. He was introduced at a luncheon club meeting as "a man who would give his shirt to anyone who needed it."

O. D. Springer, a club member, promptly announced: "Well, I need one."

The sheriff divested himself of his shirt and handed it to Springer.

Home Run—Hospital Trip.

Denver.—It was a home run for the better, and the hospital for outfielders Livi Canndon and George Eberly, and lot baseball players.

Heads up, they collided as they ran for the high fly. After regaining consciousness, they learned that their injuries were slight.

Bread and Bayonet.

Camden, N. J.—The marital knot can withstand bread being hurled—but not a bayonet.

That Mrs. Lillian Grogan testified is why she should be given a divorce. The attractive 28-year-old brunette testified that her husband, Francis, hung the bayonet and hurled bread six inches from his head and imbedded itself three inches in a table.

The court is considering.

He Who Gets Spooked.

Pittsburgh.—Four-year-old George Wilson was playing in his backyard with some other youngsters.

"Hey, ya wanna see my gun?" George asked.

There was a chorus of "yesss." The boy went into the house where his father, Night Patrolman John Wilson, was sleeping and returned with a service revolver.

The gun was discharged and Booby by Taggart, 3, screamed. He suffered only powder burns—but there were wholesome spankings in the neighborhood.

Harvard Gets Wet.

Cambridge, Mass.—A spring tidal wave has deluged Harvard's gold coast.

It started when a student dropped a paper bag full of water from his dormitory window upon a passing roadster, and reached flood proportions by the time police arrived.

The disturbance was assuming the appearance of an old-fashioned student riot when someone had a bright idea—and removed the students' ammunition by turning off the water.

Hank Keene's Show Here Next Week

Arrangements have been completed for Hank Keene's Show to play here Friday and Saturday, June 1 and 2. The show, which runs two hours and a half, will feature Hank Keene and his famous Radio Gang with Elmer. In addition there will be a 25 people radio show composed of other stellar radio and stage entertainers. The performance will take place in their big waterproof tent theatre, which will be located at Cornhill street and Main Avenue on the Atlantic Field. The performance are sponsored by Fortis House Company. This is the same show that played to capacity audiences all last season throughout New England. The performances will consist of a wide variety of entertainment including music, singing, dancing, and plenty of good clean comedy. Hank Keene, who presents his own show, will also act as master of ceremonies in presenting the various numbers of the Radio Revue.

There will be one performance each evening starting at 8:15. The doors will open at 7:30. On Saturday, June 2, there will be a special matinee, starting at 2:30.

The blue grass belt, extending southward from Kentucky to the crest of the Blue Ridge mountains in Watauga, Ashe and Allegheny counties in North Carolina, ends so abruptly that the change is noticeable within 50 feet.

First Holy Communion At Wilbur School

On Sunday 10 children of Wilbur Church will make their First Holy Communion for which they have been making two months of preparation. The Mass will be at 8:30, a high Mass with much of the Easter music repeated. Wilbur is very proud of its choir.

In the evening at 7:45 the regular May devotions combined with the Little Flower exercises will be held as usual.

The Mass at Eddsville on account of the First Holy Communion will be at 10:30 for this Sunday instead of the regular ten o'clock hour. Confessions in Eddsville will be at four and in Wilbur at seven. The pastor says there are very special indulgences to be gained at a First Communion Mass and urges all to receive Holy Communion at the 8:30 Mass in Wilbur on Sunday.

The daily attendance at moving pictures in America has been estimated at 11,500,000.

CALLS ALL-BRAN NATIONAL NATURAL LAXATIVE

Delicious Cereal Checked His Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Daniels:

"For many years I have been habitually constipated, and have used all sorts of laxatives. So, in fairness to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I heartily claim it to be a most wonderful remedy for constipation."

"Need I tell you that I have long since ceased using laxatives? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the National Natural Laxative. If it were used by every family in the United States for breakfast, we would have a much healthier race of people."—Mr. John Daniels, 1990 Third St., North Bergen, N. J.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

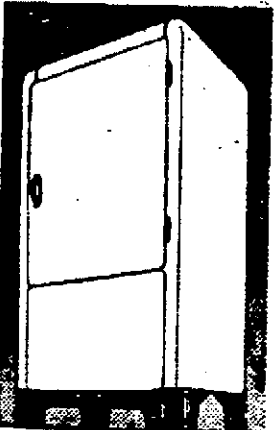

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this food much pleasanter than risking pills and drugs? Two table-spoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Brim Flare and Flatter

The hat illustrated at top is of brown silk lace. It introduces the brim turned back from the forehead, and is trimmed with brown beiling ribbon. Loops of this mark the slash in the brim. The collar and matching scarf are of navy blue monotone and dotted linen combined with linen, white on blue. The shallow crown arranged in kerchief effect is brought underneath to form a bandeau. The scarf with stitched corner design combines the navy with the dotted fabric.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

An All-Occasion Frock.

8224. The frock pictured here is exactly right for almost any occasion and will be chosen by the larger woman both for its soft, attractive style and its slenderizing effect. Many women prefer a three-quarter length sleeve and the circular ruffle on this sleeve, repeats the effect of the circular cut of the revers, while the center front seam and inverted pleat give the necessary slenderness and width.

One could develop this dress in a black and white printed silk, or in dark blue or brown sheer crepe, with pastel tones for revers and sleeve ruffle.

Designed in sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 44 requires 4 1/2 yards of 23 inch material with 1/2 yard contrasting.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Diamonds, Platinum, Redium "Costly Minerals of the United States" Rare Minerals as occurring in seven states, platinum in 14 states and redium in 15 states. There is, however, only one diamond mine that is being worked commercially, other than the famous Argonne mine, near Northport, Ark. Redium has been produced in this country from the ore found in Colorado and Utah. Platinum is found chiefly in Alaska, California and Oregon. Cinnabar is carried from Spain, Germany and other hard places, as well as from Mexico, etc. Of these hard stones, agate, amethyst, garnet, opal, garnet, etc., are found in various sections of this country.

What Suits for the Gander

New York—Fashions for men usually follow those for women. This season, in the case of the linen suit, not to mention the seersucker, we find the usual order reversed. It has come to pass that Palm Beach cloth and several other warm weather fabrics, alpaca among them, are being used for women's summer suits.

They have been treating linen to some mysterious process which is supposed to make it give a better performance, not wrinkle up at the slightest provocation. And that's perhaps why linen suits look good again. And why the separate linen skirt, with other wash skirts not far behind, have found themselves again in favor.

The young things who just live in sweaters, and who have become quite agile in wielding needles, are matching up pastel sweaters to pastel skirts, tweeds among other materials. The wash skirts run to open fronts with buttons of several sorts. If you are courageous enough to alternate your buttons go ahead and do it, it's being done.

There are many attractive colors from which to choose your linen suit. And there is always the wisdom of having a white linen one which, this season, calls for darker accessories. You will like the idea of a dark blouse, say an organdie, also dark hat, gloves and shoes all matching of course.

One may always ring amusing changes in a costume by the wearing smart looking scarfs than which there have never been smarter—and as to ways of wearing them, they are legion.

Taffeta Real or Synthetic

Fashionable Parisiennes are wearing fancy taffetas particularly in little novelty jackets which are worn with plain dark skirts, although an occasional ensemble or suit is also observed. Ribbed, cross-hatched, black-plaid and satin coin-spot taffetas are favored.

While the majority of these taffetas are silk, the synthetic yarn versions are also being developed in France, as indicated by reports from the Paris midseason openings which made frequent mention of dull synthetic plaid taffetas used for both daytime clothes and beach wear.

PLAID TIES TO LINEN

A knee-length swaggar coat accompanies the slender skirt in this white linen swaggar suit, which has plaid gingham tie combining red, black and white, with large ornamental red buttons fastening the wide revers.

Kitchen Hints.

A little lemon juice, sprinkled over fruit, vegetable, fish or meat salads just before they are served, greatly improve the flavor.

Left-over cooked asparagus may be mixed with celery, pickle relish and salad dressing and served on lettuce, or it may be combined with left-over ham or veal and served in a cream sauce on toast or buttered toasted rolls.

Fresh strawberries mixed with fresh or canned pineapple, sweetened and chilled, make a refreshing dessert and one especially inviting to serve after a rather heavy meal.

Left-over cooked ham mixed with hard cooked eggs, celery and dressing makes a good salad to serve for luncheon or supper. This should constitute the main course.

DISH WASHING SUGGESTION TO EASE KITCHEN LABORS

Here are suggestions for making the dish-washing job an easier one: Before attempting to wash a meat grinder, run some bread through it to clean out meat particles. Then use a stiff brush to wash it.

When washing dishes which have contained gravy or other greasy substances, add a few drops of ammonia to the water. It will facilitate washing and eliminate the odor of grease. Then rinse thoroughly. Dishes soiled by eggs or milk should be washed first in cold water, but greasy dishes should be immersed at once in hot water.

MYSTERY AT RABBIT HILL

By R. H. WILKINSON

THE mystery at Rabbit Hill lasted but a week.

Yet its highly served to distract not at all from the atmosphere of glamour and excitement and heavy intrigue which it created.

Mysteries are not common in our town of Medway.

Those of us who abide here the greater part of the time live a mediocre life, a life of routine that scarcely, if ever, deviates from the path of normality.

Hence, mystery, brief though it may be, logical and disappointing though the solution, because of its sheer incongruity in our staid old town, is something to talk about.

Our mystery occurred two months ago.

The Taylor Winslows, who have occupied the big white house on Rabbit Hill for generations back, departed one bright June morning for an extended motor tour of the White mountains and Canada.

Toward dusk of the same day an automobile containing four people swung into the Winslow's drive and stopped just outside the garage door.

The car was a roadster and two of its four occupants, a man and a woman, occupied the rumble seat.

It was a fine summer's night, with a crescent moon hanging above the pines beyond the house, with stars, clear and white, blinking overhead, with the warm air with the smell of growing things.

The four people in the automobile had driven far and were weary.

The present setting was a far cry from the city home they had quitted several hours before.

It was restful here and cool. They remained in the car for a quarter-hour or more, conscious of the magic spell of peace and quiet that enfolded them, and thankful for it.

Presently the man in the rumble seat stirred and sat erect.

"Let's go inside, Bob. It's getting cold, and there's a fire in there."

At the exact moment he uttered the words the young man was conscious of an unexplainable sensation of weirdness.

For no reason whatever he found himself staring into the darkness beyond the car; he sensed, he thought, a mysterious presence other than that of his companions.

The youth looked at the girl. Her eyes were open and her face had assumed an attitude of listening.

Those in front were rigid and still. The crescent moon had disappeared behind the pines.

It was dark and deathly still. The young man who had spoken uttered a laugh that somehow lacked in mirth, and at the exact moment the sound left his lips something neither soft nor hard yet seemingly malleable crashed against his head.

He reeled, groaned, instinctively lifted up his arm, only to have it beaten down.

One of the girls screamed, and then the other.

The young man at the wheel swore, and pressed his foot against the starter button.

The roadster leaped ahead, disappeared inside the open door of the garage and stopped.

Ten minutes later the village telephone operator had summoned Medway's police chief from his regular evening beat in response to an urgent summons. Chief Tom Carmody clamped the switchboard receivers over his head.

"Hello," came a voice. "Chief Carmody? This is Bob Winslow. I'm up at Taylor's place on Rabbit Hill. Come up right away, will you? Somebody's hurt!"

Chief Carmody, who himself was not immune to a little excitement now and again to relieve the monotony of a law-abiding community, made short work of the two miles to Rabbit Hill.

He listened to Bob Winslow's account of what had happened, examined the wound on Harry Carter's head, made mental note of the frightened expressions on the faces of the two women, and flashlight and gun in hand, went out to investigate.

After ten minutes' time Bob Winslow began to wonder what had happened to the chief, and when another ten minutes had passed without word from him, went himself to investigate.

Bob found the chief lying in the drive before the garage, a nasty wound on his head, his sensibilities departed.

Bob became genuinely alarmed and sensed again that weird feeling of a strange and mysterious presence lurking about.

Summoning Harry, they carried Chief Carmody into the house and revived him.

But the officer couldn't throw much light on the subject.

He had been attacked from behind, he said, and must have struck his head against a rock when he fell.

The next day Chief Carmody appointed a special officer to guard the Winslow estate.

But nothing of an unforeseen nature occurred throughout the daylight hours.

Toward dusk Bertha Winslow, Bob's wife, became uneasy, and suggested they all return to Boston.

But both Bob and Harry were for staying on.

They wanted to get at the bottom of the mystery.

By this time all Medway was agog over the strange happenings.

As darkness descended folks began to gather in little groups before the house, as if expecting some weird phenomenon to take place.

It was close to the clock when one of the spectators, disobeying orders from Chief Carmody, ventured into the yard on a tour of inspection.

Fifteen minutes after he had disappeared the watching populace heard a groan and, rushing to the spot, discovered the curious person crashing through the shrubbery as if pursued by devils.

He had, he avowed, been attacked.

On the day following, a special posse was organized and a thorough search made of the Winslow grounds and buildings.

But not a particle of evidence that might lead to a solution of the mystery was uncovered.

It was all very strange and mysterious, providing Medway natives with enough material for novel conversation to last them for months to come.

On the third night the posse remained on guard at different points about the premises.

And despite their studious vigilance two of their number were struck down by the same mysterious force.

The townsfolk were becoming alarmed.

Bob Winslow and his friends showed grave concern.

Chief Carmody was puzzled and not a little angered by it all.

There was, he said, absolutely nothing to work on.

In all his 20 years' experience as a police officer he had had nothing of this nature to contend with.

People began reciting tales of ghosts and weird happenings; stories of bats and vampires and lost souls.

All in all they created quite an atmosphere of unreality, an atmosphere augmented by the actual unexplained assaults on at least five persons by the strange mystery force that came out of the darkness and disappeared again without leaving a single telltale clue.

Another two days passed and another guard was assaulted.

Chief Carmody, in accord with his own wishes and those of Bob Winslow, was on the point of summoning outside aid to solve the mystery.

When Taylor and his wife one afternoon drove into the yard and stared about in bewildered fashion at the crowds of people and half-dozen guards posted about the place.

"What the devil," asked Taylor, "is it all about? What's happened? Why, it looks like the place was under martial law!"

"Worse than that," his cousin, Bob, informed him. "Come inside and we'll tell you about it. And incidentally, get ready for a shock."

Taylor and his wife sat down in the kitchen.

The others grouped themselves about, with Chief Carmody and two guards in the background.

Bob Winslow told the story, and while he talked his expression was grave and deeply concerned.

When the story was ended Taylor stared at him and stared at the faces of those behind, and suddenly burst into a loud guffaw of laughter.

He laughed till the tears rolled down his cheeks, stopping finally from sheer exhaustion.

Bob and the others, sensing that they were the objects of this outburst, grew red and then angry.

"Well, what's so funny about it?" Taylor suddenly sobbed.

"I should have told you," he explained. "It struck me funny when you spoke of midnight prowlers and mysterious attacks in the dark. I should have told you about the owls."

"Owls!"

"Owls, yes. There's a pair of owls made their nest in the hollow tree behind the garage. Recently the old lady hatched out four young ones, and has been teaching them to fly. You ought to know that a mother owl becomes vicious to a point of insanity if she thinks anyone is planning to harm her children. Why, the night we left she swooped down on me and knocked me for a row of gooseberry bushes. Their claws are like steel. And at such times they fear nothing, will attack any foe regardless of size. These, as well as the fact that owls are entirely silent in their flight, are well known facts. You should have known."

And this, which is partially a true story, ended the mystery at Rabbit Hill, disappointing in its solution, but nevertheless having provided the deviation from the path of normality that is the spice of small-town existence.

The American's Creed

The American's creed, adopted by the government's committee on publication and is 1913 accepted by the house of representatives "in behalf of the American people" follows: "I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon the principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

Early Farmer Loan Applications Asked

Farmers Also Asked to Use Soy Beans, Sudan Grass and Corn to Replace Drought-Injured Food Crops.

Albany, N. Y., May 25 (P)—Early application by farmers for emergency crop loans from the federal government was recommended today as New York state farm experts continued to study drought conditions.

This was urged by C. Bert Smith, state agent for the federal emergency crop loans.

Farmers also were urged to use soy beans, sudan grass and corn as emergency pasture crops to replace alfalfa, timothy and other feed crops damaged by weather conditions, but it was indicated there was a shortage of feed.

Meanwhile, agricultural officials in Albany contemplated an increase in the price of milk to farmers to enable them to buy grain.

If present weather conditions continue, said Commissioner Charles H. Baldwin, "there is nothing that will prevent a shortage of milk but to discontinue the elimination of cows and to increase the price of milk to the farmer to enable him to buy again."

He ordered all initial testing for tuberculosis cattle suspended on June 1, a move to prevent elimination of a percentage of producing cows.

Conditions are most severe in the northern, eastern and parts of the western counties of the state, said Fred B. Morris, assistant state leader of the county agents.

Automobile accidents have increased generally since January of this year.

Most Archaic Community Carve, the most remote of the Ancestral Puebloans, has a single village of 600 persons forming what is perhaps the most archaic community in the western world, for the village knows no civilization, crime, poverty or vice, and there are no locks on the doors.
